This book is dedicated to:

George Lucas,
for brilliantly reinventing the classic fairy tale and thrilling not only our generation, but countless generations to come.

Bryan and Carla Grayson, two old and dear friends who rode the rough waters with me. With their dauntless faith, loyalty and dedication they kept the boat (and me) from capsizing when the white squall almost drowned us. Hey, guys, we finally made it to dry land! And especially for my wife, Nancy, who put up with me correcting page proofs on Christmas Day.

—J.H.

My daughter, Tammera, who is as beautiful, strong-willed and as much a survivor as Princess Leia; and to the newest joy in my life—Travis, my only grandson, who has showed me the way to the fountain of youth: always, always stay young at heart! This book is for these two wonderful people, who live in a galaxy far, far away . . . Utah!

—“Doc”

And to Sue Harke,
who is more than a researcher and archivist extraordinaire.
She is our sounding board, promotions and publicity coordinator, master organizer of events, and keeper of the thickest black book of sources and connections in all of science-fiction fandom.

But more importantly, she is our friend.

Thanks, Sue!

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Countless dedicated individuals contributed to make this book a reality. Acknowledgments must begin, of course, with all those who created the films, including the Master Jedi himself, George Lucas. He and his talented cadre of actors, directors, producers, puppeteers, special effect wizards, and other production specialists created the wonder and awe of a faraway galaxy . . . one of the most popular movie trilogies in the history of motion pictures—a pop cultural phenomenon, too, which has survived (as of this writing) for twenty years. Without these talented and dedicated men and women, there would be no fans, there would be no trivia, and there certainly would not be The Ultimate Unauthorized Star Wars Trilogy Trivia Challenge. Please understand, although we found the final installment a little too sugar-coated (especially those damn furry and cuddly Ewoks), we consider the Star Wars trilogy—either in original format or special edition—the epitome of movie magic and story telling.

Tracy Bernstein, our long-suffering editor at Kensington, once again applied her considerable talents as editor of The Ultimate Unauthorized Star Wars Trilogy Trivia Challenge. As always, Tracy, it was sheer and absolute joy to work with you and the rest of those talented folks on Third Avenue in New York, especially Barbara Bennett, Amy Stecher, April Benavides, and Adam Levison.

Special thanks also needs to go to Marcia Amsterdam, our liberal, comrade-in-arms literary agent who is just as much a delight to talk politics with as publishing. Thanks, Marcia, for selling this one and being so much fun to visit with in the morning, especially when you're skewing the "Bill-bashers."

For their assistance, support, and generosity, the following individuals deserve a special note of thanks: Canadian Brant Podlowski (for writing some of the best ad copy we've ever seen on the Net), Susan and Mike Bradshaw (for practicing guerrilla warfare at the bookstores and for being our bowling partners), Cindy McKittrick (for coming up with the George Lucas article when we were short on behind-the-scenes source material and, of course, for being a great boss and lunch companion), Debbie Alsup (our greatest fan and worldwide promoter), Ed and Judith Echols (for all their continued support, love and friendship and shared excitement for our publishing endeavors), Tommy and Sue Isaac (for promoting the other books on the Internet and giving us a place to unwind in the central Texas countryside one weekend), Mr. FedEx David Arnold and his son Ryan, Bill Lardie, CEO of Anderson Merchandisers, sci-fi aficionado Kris Swim at B. Dalton in the Northwest Arkansas Mall, Debra Broide and Diane Van Beuren (for all the publicity), Peggy Morton with Borders bookstore in Dallas, Jack and Phyllis Bergstrom, cigar-smoking Mike Hills at Barnes & Noble in Fayetteville, Frances LeBlanc (dynamite really does come in small packages), Crossroads' Tim Walbert, Peggy Smith with Hastings in Fayetteville, Monica Miceli at Borders bookstore in Las Vegas, Florence and Morrie Soetaert, Mark Elwood at the Village Vista (thanks for the front page story and excellent company over coffee one summer morning), Valorie Jones at Waldenbooks in Fayetteville, Danielle Walther at B. Dalton deep south in Alabama (for not only pushing our books, but also for being a favorite e-mail pal at the wee hours of the morning), and Virgil Rose and Jeannie Clark at the Tulsa Woodland Hills Mall Waldenbooks. Our deepest thanks, though, goes to author Ruby Jean Jensen for shining the light into the darkness; and finally, last but certainly not least, Subspace Chatter and Warp 10 online editor Ruben Macias (for assisting us with our research, promoting our previous books, announcing our book signings, and always being there for us when we only had to ask).

Special acknowledgments from "Doc": I am forever indebted to James "J.R." Creek, my nephew and young Jedi Knight-in-training; Don Havlick, one of Houston, Texas', finest attorneys and whose dedication and professional service to his clients is unequaled; Aunt Lulu, Juanita and Joyce Bryant, and George; Charles Erick and Ruth Shipp, two friends who were there even when the storm clouds gathered and the vultures circled; and Theresa "T.C." Barbero, my number one critic extraordinaire.

In addition, all of the following Star Wars fans' dedication and assistance in one way or another made this book possible: David C. Fein, Ryan Silva, Tim Elliot, Joe Forester, Peter Poulakakos, Evan Reynolds, Alec Usticke, James Addams, Mike Beidler, Don Bies, Bill Brownell, Chip Cataldo, Raymond W. Charmega, Steven Downer, Keith Evans, Nicky Wilson, D.J. Stewart, Kristin Milstead, Brent Lynch, Vian Lawson, Rob Laurie, Dave A. Lartigue, David A. Koran, Ed Hill, David Halstead, Jason M. Fischer, Mark R. Leeper, Glenn Saunders, Matthew Mohs, Jason Collier, Steve Stelter, Julie Lim, George "Jake" Tringali, Jeanne Mangum, Peter Ferguson, Skip Shayotovich, Scott Streeter, Ming Wathne, Eric Sansoni, Rebecca Moesta Anderson, Craig Carey, Roger M. Wilcox, Nicole Nuke, Keven Lewis, Peter Leyshan, Noah Nelson, John Warren, Rusty Miller, Eric Schaetzlein, Aditya Sood, James L. Belcher, Joshua Booth, Jeff DiBartolmeo, Jeremy Kennedy, Matt Bradshaw, Daniel Goldman, Ryan Smith, Bill Warren, Robert Alan Danforth, Craig MacKinnon, Rajiv Udani, Ray Rho, Brandon Gillespie, Todd Chambers, Scott B. Casteel, Aaron Romanowsky, Andy Hofle, Bryan Carolan Dunne, Cleavy McKnight, Dan Uslan, Daniel S. Highlands, Darryll Hobson, David Kember, Dax Shifrel, Doug Brod, Doug Tooley, Ed Hirsh, Jefferey Gold, John Hagerman, Mark Swartz, Michael Clark, Michael Palencar, Murray Chapman, Kevin Cox, Dan Wallace, Andrew Fustini, Donna Parker, Jack Skellington, Jim Fisher, Allen Newman, Erich Hurst, David Lebel and Harry Knowles. May the Force be with you all . . . always!

All the others who helped in some way to produce The Ultimate Unauthorized Star Wars Trilogy Trivia Challenge have our heartfelt thanks, and if we omitted your name, please forgive us. It certainly was not intentional.

"Nobody except Disney makes movies for young people anymore. I want to open up the whole realm of space for them."

—George Lucas in a 1977 interview

"It's sheer joy making things that don't exist."

—John Dykstra, Star Wars F/X wizard

"George [Lucas] said he would like for us to put together a creature shop. Some of the story points weren't clarified, but I have a feeling George works through telepathy."

—Phil Tippett, Return of the Jedi F/X

"Star Wars is a fairy tale, a fantasy, a legend . . . [that] taps the pulp fantasies buried in our memories, and because it's done so brilliantly, it reactivates old thrills, fears and exhilarations . . ."

—Film critic Roger Ebert

"I've always loved adventure films . . . I came to realize that since the demise of the western, there hasn't been much in the mythological fantasy genre available to the film audience. So instead of making 'isn't-it-terrible-what's-happening-to-mankind' movies, which is how I began, I decided that I'd try to fill that gap. I'd make a film so rooted in imagination that the grimness of everyday life would not follow the audience into the theater. In other words, for two hours, they could forget . . ."

—George Lucas

INTRODUCTION:

A Long Time Ago in a Galaxy Far, Far Away. . . .

Star Wars: A New Hope, The Empire Strikes Back and Return of the Jedi, with combined gross ticket sales of $1.3 billion worldwide, comprise the most successful trilogy in movie history with all three in the Top 15 box office hits of all time. At the end of 1995, 20th Century Fox rereleased a boxed set of the three modern classics to a new, global generation in thirty-eight countries. Millions of units were sold during the first week alone. And then in 1997, millions of fans got a chance to watch “special editions” of the trilogy when the films returned to theaters to celebrate the first movie’s twentieth anniversary. Each film was restored, special effects enhanced, footage added, sound remastered, and in the process, a whole new generation of younger fans who had never seen the trilogy in theaters before were introduced to the ways of the Force.

The Star Wars trilogy is considered the largest entertainment franchise in the world (possibly the galaxy) with universal and timeless appeal across countries and demographic groups. The undisputed king of science-fiction marketing and media frenzy, the trilogy (like its intergalactic cousin Star Trek) has spawned best-selling reference books, comics, posters, action figures, interactive computer games, T-shirts, coffee mugs, calendars, Internet websites, online chat groups, fan organizations and conventions.

Star Wars, like Star Trek, is a universe filled with well-defined characters and situations and creatures and intergalactic politics. Conventions are held in cities all around the world throughout the year. Thousands of fans show up dressed as Luke Skywalker, Princess Leia, R2-D2, C-3PO, Darth Vader, Chewie, Obi-Wan Kenobi, Jawas, Ewoks, Imperial stormtroopers, or any number of Star Wars' myriad life-forms. And trivia contests are always a staple of every convention. Fan clubs abound by the hundreds around the globe, and in each issue of the organizations' magazines or newsletters there is always a trivia section. Thousands of Star Wars chat groups log on the Internet daily, devoting megabytes to critical reviews on such unique subjects as the Millennium Falcon's hyperdrive capabilities and "netpicking" the trilogy's plot oversights, production problems and technical screw-ups. Star Wars trivia generates some of the heaviest electronic traffic in cyberspace. Yet never has there been, in one volume, a collection of trivia questions and answers about the hugely popular Star Wars universe.

Until now.

In the spirit of any worthwhile trivia challenge of this magnitude and scope, there are a variety of different categories in this book. For example, the questions in the STAR POWER sections will adequately test your working knowledge of Rebel and Imperial spacecraft and surface vessels—from speeder bikes to TIE starfighters; ALIEN FACES & PLACES divisional categories will quiz participants on the trilogy's memorable alien creatures and their homeworlds. In addition, strategically placed throughout the book are trivia tests that address behind-the-scenes and on the sets of the movies, character dossiers (profiled by the Imperial Security Bureau and the Bothan Spy Network), and dialogue between the characters (Rebel Rumblings & Imperial Transmissions). Also included is a detailed listing of bloopers, scientific snafus, inconsistencies, impossibilities and just plain screw-ups from each installment of the trilogy. Testing methods are just as varied with a combination of multiple choice, fill in the blank, true or false, short answer, and matching.

All correct answers count as 1 point, except the specifically designed JEDI MASTER BONUS questions, which count as 5 points each because they are intended to seriously challenge the die-hard Star Wars fan.

In the back section of this book you will find the Answer Key, plus a specific line to calculate and enter your score as you play along per category. On the very last page you will compute your total score for this book's ultimate trivia challenge and determine your level of training success and status as a Jedi Knight.

You can start at the beginning with STAR POWER and work your way through this asteroid field of trivia questions, or flip around and pick out random questions that test your particular knowledge of REBELS WITH A CAUSE or behind-the-scenes of each of the movies or technical specifications in the STAR TECH section. However you want to approach this trivia challenge, you are sure to know more about the Star Wars universe when you've finished this book than you did when you started.

May the Force be with you!

James Hatfield & George "Doc" Burt

A Few Notes about Source Material

One of the great ongoing debates in the Star Wars universe is the matter of what's canonical: what, in Star Wars terms, is "real," and which events never actually happened to Luke Skywalker, Han Solo, Princess Leia, Chewie, the droids, Darth Vader, the Emperor, or any of our beloved Rebel heroes or loathed Imperial villains?

Although the ongoing space saga has continued with a long line of hugely successful books in print, we have only used sources associated with the original trilogy (i.e. the movies themselves, the novelizations, the National Public Radio dramatizations, and reference sources such as West End Games' Star Wars: The Movie Trilogy Sourcebook, etc.). A comprehensive bibliography can be found in the final pages of this book.

Die-hard fans will immediately realize that there are a few nagging inconsistencies between the cinematic version of the trilogy and the best-selling novelizations (even though George Lucas penned the first book). Example: According to the Star Wars: A New Hope novel, Red Leader was the comm-unit designation for Rebel pilot Dutch's Y-wing during the Battle of Yavin. In the movie version, his designation was Gold Leader.

When in doubt, the general rule is to go with the trilogy's cinematic interpretation of the same events.

STAR POWER

Part I

From the very first scene of Star Wars: A New Hope—with the mammoth, wedge-shaped Star Destroyer and other smaller Imperial starfighters in pursuit of Princess Leia's Blockade Runner—to the climactic space battle to save the galaxy from the evil Empire in Return of the Jedi, the Star Wars trilogy is unrivaled for its cinematic depiction of awe-inspiring and powerful spacecraft and surface vehicles. To initiate your training as a Jedi Knight, you must first be challenged with a series of questions to adequately test your knowledge of Rebel and Imperial forces—from A-wing fighters to TIE interceptors, from speeder bikes to the colossal Death Star battle station. Remember the words of your mentor and Jedi Master Yoda, "Try not. Do or do not. There is no try."

1. Which senior Imperial commanding officer claimed that the Death Star was the ultimate power in the universe?
 - A. Admiral Ozzel
 - B. Admiral Motti
 - C. Admiral Griff
2. Identify the merchant ship on which Biggs Darklighter served as first mate, which was his first assignment after graduation from the Academy.
3. What custom-built feature made Darth Vader's TIE fighter different from other combat starfighters in the Imperial fleet?

- A. It had angular solar-panel “wings”
 - B. It had triple ion engines
 - C. It was equipped with particle shielding
4. (Fill in the blank dialogue) Han Solo bragged to Luke Skywalker and Ben Kenobi in the Mos Eisley cantina that the Millennium Falcon was the “ship that made the _____ run in twelve parsecs.”
5. What was the fastest combat starfighter in either the Rebel Alliance or the Galactic Empire’s fleet?
- A. A-wing
 - B. TIE interceptor
 - C. X-wing
6. How many Imperial Star Destroyers pursued the Millennium Falcon as it left Tatooine’s Mos Eisley spaceport?
- A. One
 - B. Two
 - C. Three

JEDI MASTER BONUS #1

9. Identify Admiral Ackbar’s Mon Calamari-designed starship which served as his personal flagship during the decisive Battle of Endor.

- A. Adelphi Two
- B. Repulse One
- C. Home One

10. In The Empire Strikes Back, how many Star Destroyers were shown in the Imperial fleet?
 - A. Four
 - B. Five
 - C. Six
11. What repulsorlift airships were used to battle the AT-AT walkers on Hoth?
12. Who described the Millennium Falcon as the "fastest junk in the galaxy"?
 - A. Han Solo
 - B. Lando Calrissian
 - C. Chewbacca

JEDI MASTER BONUS #2

Which vehicles or types of vehicles appear in both Star Wars: A New Hope and The Empire Strikes Back?

13. Which type of three-winged Imperial space shuttle resembled an inverted Y in flight?
 - A. Lambda-class
 - B. Lancer-class
 - C. Imperial-class
14. (True or False) Even when a landspeeder was stationary it remained pendent about a meter off the surface terrain as an aftereffect of the engine-produced repulsor field.
15. Identify the Rebel star cruiser that was vaporized along with its entire crew by the second Death Star's primary weapon.

- A. Liberty
- B. Intrepid
- C. Victory

16. What was the landing pad number on Bespin's Cloud City where the Millennium Falcon was docked on its visit to the mining colony after the Hoth battle?
- A. 273
 - B. 327
 - C. 732
17. What distinct characteristic gave the X-wing starfighter its name?
18. What type of immense, repulsorlift vehicle did Jabba the Hutt use as his personal transport for traveling across Tatooine's desert wastelands?

JEDI MASTER BONUS #3

What was the new landspeeder model on the galactic market that made Luke Skywalker's less valuable?

19. Which company designed and constructed the T-65 X-wing starfighter and the skyhopper T-16 airspeeder?
- A. THX Vehicles, Inc.
 - B. DelphiWorks, Ltd.
 - C. Incom Corporation
20. (Fill in the Blank) Pilots who flew the X-wings quite often referred to the small spacecraft as _____ fighters.
21. Which Imperial Star Destroyer intercepted and captured Princess Leia's Blockade Runner over Tatooine when she attempted to smuggle the original Death Star's technical read-outs to the Rebel Alliance's High Command?

- A. Executor
- B. Avenger
- C. Devastator

22. What was the name of Darth Vader's personal flagship, which was a Super-class Star Destroyer?

23. How many starfighter squadrons were housed in the twenty hangar bays aboard Admiral Ackbar's Home One starship?

- A. 10
- B. 12
- C. 15

24. (Fill in the Blank) The old, multipurpose Corellian _____ had been nicknamed the Blockade Runner because pirates and smugglers repeatedly made use of its quick jump to hyperspace to avoid questions by Galactic authorities.

JEDI MASTER BONUS #4

What was another name for the Home One, the command ship from which Admiral Ackbar directed the Rebel fleet during the decisive Battle of Endor?

25. What was the Death Star's primary weapon?

26. The Rebel Alliance was able to exploit a vulnerability in the original Death Star's design which consequently led to its destruction. What was this massive weapon's weakness, at which fighter pilots aimed?

27. How many kilometers in diameter was the second, larger, Death Star?

- A. 140
- B. 160
- C. 180

28. What was another name for the four-legged Imperial trooper carrier and assault vehicle, AT-AT?
29. Besides “scout walker,” what was the other nickname for the Imperial reconnaissance and defense vehicle, AT-ST?
30. Identify the Imperial Star Destroyer that was disabled temporarily during the Hoth battle by the Rebel Alliance’s planet-based ion cannon.
- A. Executor
 - B. Avenger
 - C. Devastator

JEDI MASTER BONUS #5

How many meters long were the skiffs that Jabba the Hutt used as surface companion utility craft to his huge sail barge?

31. What was the name of bounty hunter Boba Fett’s starfighter?
32. (Fill in the blank with the correct number) The small, one-person speeder bike was outfitted with _____ directional steering vanes.
33. (True or False) An Imperial-class Star Destroyer was 2.1 kilometers in length.
34. (True or False) In Star Wars: A New Hope, Han Solo and Chewie were able to find the Death Star by chasing a TIE fighter.

35. What vehicle did Luke Skywalker use on Tatooine in addition to his landspeeder?
36. In Star Wars: A New Hope, identify the modified force that immobilized the Millennium Falcon and compelled it to land on the Death Star.

JEDI MASTER BONUS #6

Which vehicles or types of vehicles appeared in Star Wars: A New Hope, but not in The Empire Strikes Back?

37. What was the shape of the conference room on the original Death Star?
38. (Fill in the Blank) The Rebel Alliance often converted _____ into transport ships as they did when they had to quickly evacuate the Hoth base.
39. Who owned the Millennium Falcon before Han Solo?
40. What course did the Millennium Falcon take when entering the asteroid belt in The Empire Strikes Back?
 - A. 271
 - B. 262
 - C. 225.3
41. Where did the Falcon hide from the Imperial fleet after it emerged from the mouth of the colossal space slug?
42. What color were the atmospheric flying vehicles (patrol craft and traffic control cars) used outside of Bespin's Cloud City?
 - A. White
 - B. Gray
 - C. Orange

JEDI MASTER BONUS #7

In The Empire Strikes Back, what vehicles and vessels (in addition to the Millennium Falcon) were seen in the Rebel ice hanger on Hoth?

FROM FARM BOY TO JEDI KNIGHT: LUKE SKYWALKER

Imperial Security Bureau (ISB) Dossier #487818

1. Luke believed that this moisture farmer on Tatooine was his natural uncle. What was his name?
2. In reality, who was the brother of Luke's guardian?
3. Identify Luke's foster mother, whom the boy called "aunt."
4. Who senselessly murdered the couple and why?
5. What was Luke's childhood nickname among the joyriding crowd from the nearby town of Anchorhead?
 - A. Dreamer
 - B. Wormie
 - C. Lukie
6. Identify the power distribution facility located near Anchorhead that served as a meeting place for young Luke and his friends.
 - A. Daed Industrial Plant
 - B. Tosche Station
 - C. Daquelon Depot

JEDI MASTER BONUS #1

Identify the insolent and arrogant mechanic at the Anchor-head power station who was also a boyhood friend of Luke.

7. What was the name of the mechanic's girlfriend?
 - A. Carla
 - B. Raylene
 - C. Camie
8. (True or False) Wendy was another one of Luke's childhood friends who grew up with him on Tatooine.
9. Identify the future Rebel starfighter pilot whom Luke spent most of his teenage years with on Tatooine, racing land-speeders and skyhoppers, dreaming of galactic space battles and making plans to go to the Academy together.
10. What did Luke believe his father had done for a living before Ben Kenobi told him the truth?
 - A. Served as a navigator on a space freighter
 - B. Repaired water vaporators on Tatooine
 - C. Piloted galactic "cruise" ships
11. (Fill in the Blank) Luke was surprised to learn that the crazy, elderly recluse whom he had always known as "_____ Ben," was in actuality Obi-Wan Kenobi, a Jedi Knight.
12. What did Ben Kenobi give to Luke, which had once belonged to the boy's father?

JEDI MASTER BONUS #2

Why did Luke's "uncle" insist that he postpone his application to the Academy?

13. What was Luke playing with while C-3PO was taking his oil bath?
 - A. Holomonsters
 - B. His lightsaber
 - C. A model ship
14. (True or False) Luke was left-handed.
15. (True or False) Ben Kenobi misled Luke by explaining that the boy's father, Anakin Skywalker, had been a trusted friend of Kenobi's, a comrade-in-arms during the Clone Wars, who was ultimately betrayed and murdered by Darth Vader.
16. Where did Luke obtain the rope that he and Princess Leia used to swing over the chasm in the Death Star battle station?
17. What did Luke ask Leia to hold just before they made their escape via the rope?
18. Luke's experience with racing his T-16 skyhopper through the treacherous Beggar's Canyon on Tatooine served him well when he was thrust into a key role as a Rebel starfighter pilot. What did he compare targeting the Death Star battle station's exhaust port to?
19. What military rank did Luke achieve after the Battle of Yavin?
 - A. Captain
 - B. Lieutenant
 - C. Commander
20. What was Darth Vader's ultimate plan for Luke?

JEDI MASTER BONUS #3

Identify the regenerative chemical in which Luke was immersed to rapidly heal injuries sustained from an attack by a Wampa ice creature on Hoth.

21. How did Luke escape from the Wampa creature's ice cave lair?
22. Why did Luke remain outside on the frozen plains of Hoth when Han went back to Echo Base?
23. Who instructed Luke to travel to the swamp planet of Dagobah, where he was to find the Jedi Master Yoda and complete his training?

JEDI MASTER BONUS #4

Who referred to Luke as "the best bush pilot in the outer rim territories"?

24. (True or False) The front-line Rebel troops on Hoth witnessed Luke single-handedly bring down an Imperial troop transport and an assault craft AT-AT.
25. Who did Luke originally believe he encountered inside the dark, cavernous tree on Dagobah?
26. What did Luke "see" during his vision of the future when he became sensitive to the Force under Yoda's tutelage?
27. How did Luke ultimately escape from Darth Vader during their lightsaber battle on Cloud City?

JEDI MASTER BONUS #5

What three things did Luke lose during his first and tragic confrontation with Darth Vader in the bowels of Bespin's floating metropolis?

JEDI MASTER BONUS #6

Identify the piece of machinery Luke desperately clung to at the bottom of Cloud City.

28. What were Luke's first words after he was rescued by the Millennium Falcon?
- A. "Where's Han?"
 - B. "Oh, Leia."
 - C. "My presence here jeopardizes your lives."
29. What were the last words Luke said to Lando Calrissian and Chewbacca as they departed?
- A. "Take care, you two, and may the Force be with you."
 - B. "Be careful, you two, and may the Force be with you always."
 - C. "Don't worry, you two, with the help of the Force we'll rescue Han."
30. What color was the beam of the new lightsaber that Luke constructed?
31. Who smuggled Luke's lightsaber into Jabba the Hutt's desert palace on Tatooine?
32. (True or False) Luke took a blaster hit to his prosthetic hand that nearly incapacitated it during Han Solo's rescue and the destruction of the crime lord and his entire organization.

JEDI MASTER BONUS #7

Identify the manifestation of the Force that Luke used to verbally implant the suggestion of "you will take me to Jabba, now" into the mind of Bib Fortuna.

33. (Fill in the blank dialogue) Luke returned to Dagobah to complete his training as a Jedi Knight and to “keep a promise to an old _____.”
34. What did a dying Yoda tell Luke was the only thing left to complete his training as a full Jedi?
- A. The ability to resist the dark side of the Force
 - B. Accept the Force as a constant companion
 - C. Confront Darth Vader a second time
35. Who warned Luke that he could not return his father to his own inner truth, to pull him back from the dark side?
36. Who informed Vader that Leia was Luke’s twin sister, another Skywalker strong in the Force?

JEDI MASTER BONUS #8

(Fill in the blank dialogue)

When the Emperor failed in his efforts to corrupt Luke as he did his father, the evil leader of the Empire smiled down at the nearly unconscious young Jedi and once again assaulted him with another barrage of lightning bolts of energy from his fingers. “Young fool! Only now at the end, do you understand. Your _____ skills are no match for the power of the dark side.”

JEDI MASTER BONUS #9

I, ROBOT

In homage to the noted twentieth-century biochemist and prolific author, Dr. Isaac Asimov (1920–1992), who postulated robots would employ sophisticated positronic computing devices in their brains, this section will test your knowledge of droids, the automatons of the Star Wars universe. Although most droids communicated via a program language of expressive beeps and whistles (R2-D2 is a classic example), we hope you spent enough time working with or around droids to pick up on their unique language and now have a comprehensive understanding of droid history and technology.

1. What was the verbal command code function that instantaneously overrode a droid's principal programming?
 - A. Voice Annul: Alpha Omega Psi
 - B. Audio Overturn: Delta 626
 - C. Voice Override: Epsilon Actual
2. What type of droids specialized in the maintenance and repair of starships?
3. What was See-Threepio afraid would happen to him and Artoo-Detoo if Imperial forces captured them on the Blockade Runner?
4. What was another name for advanced surveillance and tracking probots?

5. What three-word expression did C-3PO often articulate in semireligious context?
 - A. "Thank the Creator!"
 - B. "Thank the Maker!"
 - C. "Thank the Builders!"
6. Identify the hulking, unwieldy-looking utility droids constructed and programmed for common labor assignments.
 - A. Regis I Labor Droids
 - B. Mark II Reactor Drones
 - C. Benza XI Assembly Models

JEDI MASTER BONUS #1

In Star Wars: A New Hope, where did Luke Skywalker's uncle Owen tell his nephew he was planning to send R2-D2 and C-3PO and for what purpose?

7. (True or False) Pelvic servomotors rendered bipedal droids with the mechanism to effect movements in their legs.
8. Which series of popular astromech droids did Owen Lars initially procure from the Jawas before Luke Skywalker persuaded him to take the R2-D2 unit instead?
 - A. R5 unit
 - B. R6 unit
 - C. R7 unit
9. What was another term used to describe a protocol droid?
10. Identify the type of medical droid that performed the operation to replace Luke Skywalker's severed hand with a prosthetic in The Empire Strikes Back.

- A. C-62 (See-Sixtoo)
- B. B-2B (B-Toobee)
- C. 2-1B (Too-Onebee)

11. How many limbs were constructed on a multipurpose treadwell robot?
12. What was another name for a droid's sound-producing vocabulator device, which permitted the automaton to speak in millions of languages?
- A. Vocoders
 - B. Vocabs
 - C. Vocal Regulators

JEDI MASTER BONUS #2

What type of droid was the battle-scarred bounty hunter IG-88?

13. Why didn't Imperial forces fire on R2-D2 and C-3PO's pod when they escaped from the Blockade Runner?
14. (True or False) Probots possessed the defensive ability to generate a protective force field.
15. (Fill in the blank dialogue) C-3PO bellowed, "Curse my _____ body" when he thought his friends were dying in the Death Star's immense trash compactor.
16. In Star Wars: A New Hope, what was the ever-fretting C-3PO afraid the Jawas were going to do with him and R2-D2?
- A. Disassemble them
 - B. Sell them to the Empire, who would then transform them into slave droids
 - C. Melt them down

17. Why did Luke Skywalker's uncle order him to take R2-D2 to Anchorhead?
18. (True or False) R5-D4 was the name designation of the droid that Luke and his uncle Owen first procured from the Jawa traders, which, when it showed signs of damage, was replaced by R2-D2.

JEDI MASTER BONUS #3

What were the three instructions Luke gave R2-D2 during the Battle of Yavin's assault on the first Death Star?

- A. MA-8
 - B. SI-4
 - C. FX-7
28. (True or False) Jabba the Hutt's sadistic Eve-Ninedenine droid was programmed with a deep, almost raspy male voice.
29. (Fill in the Blank) Droids could be automated to receive command control directions by way of a distinctive _____ pattern which usually belonged to the droid's master or immediate supervisor.
30. (Fill in the blank with the correct number) C-3PO was fluent in over _____ million galactic languages.

31. Name the captain of the Alderaanian consular ship Tantive IV whom C-3PO claimed he and R2-D2 belonged to until the ship was captured by the Empire.
- A. Antilles
 - B. Shaddaa
 - C. Byss

JEDI MASTER BONUS #5

Identify C-3PO's four types of receptors.

32. Which droid was considered an adept hologame player, often serving as an opponent for gangster Jabba the Hutt or one of his criminal associates at his palace on Tatooine?
- A. JH-487
 - B. GB-486
 - C. BG-J38
33. What small, cylinder-shaped apparatus kept a droid from straying away?
34. Unlike actual droids, these automatons possessed no aptitude for independent motivation and could only do what they were instructed to do. What were they?
35. (Fill in the Blank) An administrative assistant with artificial intelligence would be classified as a specially programmed _____ droid.
36. What was the actual name for a droid's mechanical "on and off" switch, or primary circuit breaker?
37. What was another name for a memory wipe, which was used to expunge all of the amassed information stored in a droid's data bank?

JEDI MASTER BONUS #6

Identify the servomechanism that rendered droids with the capability to move about.

38. What were the devices that essentially served as “eyes” for most droid units?
39. These ambulatory, box-shaped automatons carried an energy-producing generator in their bodies. What type of service droids were they?
40. (Fill in the Blank) Program _____ were internal commands placed in a droid’s principal performance banks to create a power overload and generate in the process a moderate-sized but lethal detonation.
41. What was the primary mechanism within a droid that transmogrified energy into automation?
42. (True or False) Only those droids whose principal purpose was to continually interface and interact with organic beings were furnished with speech synthesizers.
43. What secret information was R2-D2 carrying in his memory bank in Star Wars?

JEDI MASTER BONUS #7

What type of droid models could expand and intensify the computer capabilities of spacecraft by plugging into terminals or ship-interface receptacles?

44. (True or False) Third-degree droids were classified by their skills in security and military applications.

45. Which degree of droid classifications was the domain of the social sciences and service areas such as diplomatic assistance?
- A. First degree
 - B. Second degree
 - C. Third degree
46. What did C-3PO say was his first job?
47. What did R2-D2 state was responsible for short-circuiting his holographic recording system in Star Wars: A New Hope?
- A. The restraining bolt

STAR TECH

From repulsorlift engines to particle shielding, from alluvial dampers to hyperdrive motivators, from horizontal boosters to fusioncutters, this trivia quiz will determine how knowledgeable you are about Star Wars' full spectrum of awesome technology. (WARNING: Immediate disqualification will result if you sneak a peek at the Star Wars Technical Journal.)

1. Identify the electro-optical devices that recorded the thumbprints of buyers and sellers throughout the galaxy, thus officially documenting property and merchandise transactions.
2. (Fill in the Blank) A starship's alluvial _____ regulated the craft's amount of thrust by blocking the emission of ion particles.
3. What did a starship have to engage before it was able to exceed the speed of light?
4. Identify the holographic projection table primarily used for recreational purposes aboard the stock freighter Millennium Falcon.
5. (Fill in the Blank) Small repulsor projectors known as _____ were used to control and influence pitch in a starship.

6. What type of generators produced the power required to originate and sustain deflector shields?

JEDI MASTER BONUS #1

In how many locations was the tractor beam coupled to the Death Star's main reactor in Star Wars: A New Hope?

7. What was a starship's most powerful onboard engine and principal propelling force?
8. In starfighters, where were the pressor activators located?
- A. On helm control consoles
 - B. In the control sticks
 - C. Directly below the arming mechanism
9. (Fill in the Blank) Personal communication transceivers known as _____ were built into the helmets of Imperial stormtroopers.
10. What was spacer lexicon for the divestiture of energy in a ship's power plants?
- A. Brownout
 - B. Blackout
 - C. Burnout
11. (True or False) Carbonite, a strong admixture of metallic substances, was utilized as a preservative for Tibanna gas.
12. What was the chief light-speed thrust producer in a starship's hyperdrive engine and interrelating systems?
- A. Hyperdrive motivator
 - B. Hyperdrive initiator
 - C. Hyperdrive calibrator

JEDI MASTER BONUS #2

According to Han Solo, what was the Millennium Falcon's top supralight speed?

13. This minute welding instrument was designed especially for repairs of a starship's durable composite metals. Identify this tool.
14. What was the name designation for the parabolic holoprojector array utilized in command centers by both Rebel Alliance and Imperial forces?
15. (Fill in the Blank) Space vessels were able to achieve sublight speeds in normal space by engaging _____ engines.
16. (True or False) Powered by fusion generators, a starship's hyperdrive engine and its interconnected systems were required to catapult the craft to faster-than-light speeds.
17. Identify the hydraulic piston that elevated and lowered the Millennium Falcon's boarding ramp.
18. What was the Blockade Runner's engine complement?

JEDI MASTER BONUS #3

In The Empire Strikes Back, what two hand-held tools did Han Solo use to make repairs to the Millennium Falcon?

19. What was the most popular antigravitational propulsion system, used throughout the galaxy?
20. (Fill in the Blank) Spacecraft utilized landing _____ to attach themselves either magnetically or mechanically to another vessel or a space dock.

21. Identify the devices used by moisture farmers on the desert world of Tatooine to absorb water from the atmosphere.
- A. Macroirrigators
 - B. Vaporators
 - C. Moisture inducers
22. (Fill in the Blank) A starship's _____ system was an aggregation of the hyperdrive's opto-electronic and mechanical subsystems.
23. What was the term used for a starship's return to realspace from hyperspace?
24. Identify the diminutive, baseball-size metal remote, blanketed with a matrix of impalpable sensors, that was used as a training tool by military and security personnel.
25. What action did Chewbacca take to force the Millennium Falcon out of hyperspace as it approached Alderaan?
26. Which specialized processing unit on the Millennium Falcon did Han Solo use to calculate the coordinates for the jump to hyperspace?
- A. Central astrogation chart
 - B. Trajectory computer
 - C. Navicomputer

JEDI MASTER BONUS #4

In The Empire Strikes Back, how often did the crew of the Millennium Falcon attempt to engage the hyperdrive and fail, and during which scenes?

JEDI MASTER BONUS #5

Which subsystem components did Han Solo check on the Falcon the first time the hyperdrive failed to propel the ship to supralight speed?

27. Identify the intercept course trajectory generated by a ship's navicomputer.
28. What portable life-support device was built into Darth Vader's armor?
29. Identify the experimental defensive system that was too costly to install on anything larger than a starfighter.
30. What were the radarlike sensor sweeps used by Imperial forces?
 - A. Com-scans
 - B. Compact Energy Detectors
 - C. Com-sigs
31. How many engines were employed on a Star Destroyer?
 - A. Two
 - B. Three
 - C. Four
32. What was the other widely used term for hyperspace?

JEDI MASTER BONUS #6

Name the three uses of an Imperial Star Destroyer's bottom hatch.

33. Identify the cylindrical shaft that served as the transport device for people and objects in building structures, space vessels and space stations throughout the galaxy.

34. (True or False) The readout data displayed within the view-plates of macrobinoculars provided information on the observed object's relative azimuth, range and promontory.
35. (Fill in the Blank) A protective _____ shielding force field deflected matter of any form from starships and planetary structures.
36. Identify the ignition system for a starship.
37. Which device manipulated the massive amounts of energy that surged through a starship's paralight system? A power coupling or a power terminal?
38. What was the metal-analyzing device that Darth Vader used to torture Han Solo on Cloud City?
- A. Thermal scan
 - B. Electro-magnetic grid
 - C. Scan grid
39. Identify the emitting tower that produced an immobilizing modified force field.
- A. Tractor-beam projector
 - B. Tracomp
 - C. High intensity deflector shield
40. This propulsion system could only be utilized when an immense gravity mass was in close proximity. Name this starship or speeder propelling force.

JEDI MASTER BONUS #7

What was another name for a thermal coil or warming unit?

41. What type of metal was impervious to intensely excessive temperatures and the stress and strain of mechanized operations?

- A. Flexisteel
- B. Durasteel
- C. Permametal

42. What was the other name for high-voltage force pikes?
43. (Fill in the Blank) Highly intense diversion shields known as deflection _____ served as the foundation for most planets' defense systems.
44. This electro-optical device had much greater power and pixel density than electrobinoculars. What was this hand-held viewing apparatus?
45. (True or False) The antiturbulence control aboard space vessels was a computer-enhanced system employed to counter-balance the effects of atmospheric perturbation.
46. Identify the remote-operated force fields employed by detention facilities and other high-security centers to manage right of entry.
- A. Access shields
 - B. Static fields
 - C. Energy gates

JEDI MASTER BONUS #8

What was the code number for the Death Star's trash compactor in which Luke Skywalker and Company were trapped in Star Wars: A New Hope?

47. What were the power-producing devices that by generating heat and light were able to recharge the energy cells of droids, weapons and vehicles?
48. Name the powered hand tool used to tighten and loosen screws and bolts.

49. Identify the propulsion engines used to furnish the moving thrust for speeder bikes, airspeeders, and landspeeders.
- A. Propulsionlift enhancers
 - B. Pressor propulsors
 - C. Repulsors
50. (True or False) Land and atmospheric vehicles could be brought to an energy distribution station for recharging.
51. What was the name of the process that transformed translucent materials such as glass and transparisteel into light filters while maintaining their transparency?
52. Identify the type of force field used on starfighters to impede and assimilate energy fire.
- A. Ray shielding
 - B. Repulsor shielding
 - C. Particle shielding
53. (True or False) A hyperspanner was a hand-held power tool similar to a wrench.
54. What was the hyperdrive subsystem aboard the Millennium Falcon that furnished energy to the ionization compartment to create ignition?
55. (True or False) Holographic recording mode was the procedure for capturing visual images and audio sound bites in a three-dimensional format.

JEDI MASTER BONUS #9

Identify the hand-held tool, carried on all starships, that produced wide-dispersion laser beams.

56. What were the wings on an X-wing fighter called?

- A. S-foils
- B. X-foils
- C. THX-foils

57. How many holomonster playing pieces were used in the hologame Chewie and the droids played on the Millennium Falcon in Star Wars: A New Hope?
- A. 8
 - B. 10
 - C. 12
58. Identify the device Luke used to view the battle between the Rebel Blockade Runner and the Star Destroyer.
59. Which optical instrument was utilized by Rebel officers on Hoth?
- A. Electrorangefinder
 - B. Electrobinoculars
 - C. Electrotelescope
60. What kept Cloud City suspended over the gas-giant planet Bespin?

JEDI MASTER BONUS #10

Identify the component in a spacecraft's hyperdrive engine system that determined jump thrusts, calibrated engine performance in hyperspace, and regulated safe returns to normal space.

ALIEN FACES & PLACES

Part I

The far, far away galaxy of Star Wars has always been known for its myriad life forms of virtually every imaginable design, shape and size, emanating from equally fascinating and varied alien worlds throughout the universe. Who were those strange beings who patronized the cantina at Mos Eisley spaceport? From what exotic locales or desolate worlds did the aliens in Jabba the Hutt's notorious criminal lair originate? Test your knowledge of alien faces and places with the following trivia questions.

1. Who were the humanoid-porcine beings who formed the work force in the Tibanna-gas processing plants on the floating Cloud City above Bespin?
2. (True or False) Because of their ability to withstand extremely hot and humid climates, large reptilian dewbacks were often used by moisture farmers on Tatooine in place of automated vehicles.
3. Identify the meter-tall scavenger race on Tatooine who traveled in bands, searching for hardware or crashed spacecraft to steal or salvage.
4. Name the Nikto skiff guard with green reptilian skin and small horns who worked at Jabba the Hutt's palace.

- A. Traco
 - B. Draxx
 - C. Klaatu
5. Identify the ten-meter long, tentacled creature that tried to eat Luke Skywalker in the refuse of the original Death Star's watery waste disposal.

15. They had small horns extending from their foreheads and multiple nostrils on their flat faces. Identify this humanoid species, several of whom were employed as skiff guards for crime lord Jabba the Hutt.
16. (Fill in the Blank) An asteroid-dwelling, 900-meter-long, wormlike space _____ swallowed the Millennium Falcon in The Empire Strikes Back.
17. Name the yellow-green skinned and spotted lead singer for the jizz-wailing band in Jabba the Hutt's palace who sang through an elongated mouth.

18. Identify the bipedal pachydermoid gangster who was a criminal associate of Jabba the Hutt.
- A. Ephant Mon
 - B. Lazquer Yei
 - C. Vetox Kaameer

JEDI MASTER BONUS #3

Describe what Imperial forces discovered on Dantooine in Star Wars: A New Hope.

19. Which planet did the flesh-eating gravel-maggots inhabit?
- A. Tatooine
 - B. Gargon
 - C. Kamar
20. Name the sixth planet in the Hoth star system.
21. Identify the rodentlike species with foul body odor and jabbering speech who traveled and lived within massive sand vehicles on Tatooine.
22. Which planet was entirely destroyed by the Galactic Empire as an exhibition of the original Death Star's awesome annihilative capabilities?
23. Name the beastly quadrupeds used by moisture farmers on the flat deserts of Tatooine and as pack animals by the Sand People.
24. Which planet sympathetic to the Alliance harbored a covert Rebel base?
- A. Graffeine
 - B. Bestine
 - C. Iopa

JEDI MASTER BONUS #4

Name the species whose far-reaching intelligence-gathering network located the site of the Empire's second Death Star battle station.

25. In which Mos Eisley docking bay did the Millennium Falcon rendezvous with Luke Skywalker, Ben Kenobi and the R2-D2 and C-3PO droids?
 - A. 45
 - B. 76
 - C. 94
26. To which species did the pudgy, jizz-wailing musician Droopy McCool belong?
27. What was the name of the large sand pit in the wastes of Tatooine's Dune Sea where the gargantuan and multitentacled creature known as Sarlacc resided?

EWOK THIS WAY

The furry, meter-tall Ewoks native to Endor's forest moon were strong in the hunt with their primitive bows and spears, but not warlike, and it was very much out of character for them to become involved in the Galactic Civil War between the Empire and the Rebel Alliance. Nevertheless, they did commit themselves to the Rebel cause, and with their combination of chants, screams, trumpets, drum rhythms, and homeworld advantage, they were able to overcome the Empire's vastly superior communication and war tactics.

1. Identify the Ewok who was the first of his tribe to encounter and make friends with Princess Leia after she crashed an Imperial speeder bike and became separated from the Rebel strike force.
 - A. Brickett B. Baroque
 - B. Wicket W. Warrick
 - C. Papos P. Peskins
2. Name the Ewok tribal leader whose striped fur alternated between two shades of gray.
 - A. Teebo
 - B. Ricket
 - C. Jotahr
3. Although primitive warriors, the Ewoks of Endor's moon were able to assist the Rebel strike force in their mission to sabotage the shield generator protecting the unfinished Death

- Star. What type of Imperial combat vehicle were the Ewoks especially effective in disabling?
4. Which tan-striped Ewok was the medicine man of the tribe that befriended the Rebel strike team?
 - A. Thotay
 - B. Korridian
 - C. Logray
 5. Identify the antiquated method of transportation that the Ewoks used to travel across Endor's moon of vast forests and valleys.
 6. (True or False) The Ewoks dwelt in close-knit villages constructed high within the immense trees of Endor's Sanctuary Moon.

JEDI MASTER BONUS #1

Identify the Ewok who stole a speeder bike and effectively diverted the attention of the Imperial soldiers long enough to give the Rebel strike force an opportunity to penetrate the compound housing the Death Star's shield generator.

7. (True or False) Wilkey and Nappett were the names of baby Ewoks in the tribe that befriended the Rebels.
8. Identify the governing body among the different Ewok tribes.
 - A. Ruling House of Bishops
 - B. Council of Elders

JEDI MASTER BONUS #2

When it was painfully obvious that the Death Star had captured the Millennium Falcon in a tractor beam, who instructed Chewie to reverse the freighter ship and "lock in the auxiliary power"?

13. (Fill in the Blank) When Darth Vader and Obi-Wan Kenobi confronted one another aboard the Death Star, the Dark Knight told his former teacher, "We meet again, at last. The _____ is now complete."
14. (Fill in the Blank) Han Solo acknowledged his mercenary intentions when he confessed to Leia, "I ain't in this for your _____, and I'm not in it for you, Princess. I expect to be well paid. I'm in it for the money!"
15. Who greeted Leia at the Yavin Rebel base with a heartfelt embrace and the words of relief, "You're safe! We had feared the worst. When we heard about Alderaan, we were afraid that you were . . . lost along with your father"?
- A. Commander Willard
 - B. General Dodonna
 - C. Commander Narra

16. Who prematurely boasted, "This will be a day long remembered. It has seen the end of Kenobi and it will soon see the end of the Rebellion"?
17. Who considered the Rebel attack against the Death Star battle station an act of "suicide" rather than "courage"?
 - A. Grand Moff Tarkin
 - B. C-3PO
 - C. Han Solo
18. As the Rebel attack squadron prepared for the Battle of Yavin, who asked, "You wouldn't want my life to get boring, would you?"
 - A. Han Solo
 - B. C-3PO
 - C. Luke Skywalker

JEDI MASTER BONUS #3

During the assault on the Death Star, who instructed Luke to "blow this thing and go home"?

19. (Fill in the Blank) Luke Skywalker complained to C-3PO that he wished the droid could "alter time, speed up the _____, or teleport" the boy off Tatooine.
20. Who observed that Luke was "not a farmer . . . He has too much of his father in him"?
21. Who described R2-D2 as "faulty" and "malfunctioning"?
22. (Fill in the Blank) After Luke referred to the Millennium Falcon as "a piece of junk," Han Solo shot back defensively, "She may not look like much, but she's got it where it counts, kid. I've added some special _____ myself."

23. Who menacingly said to Princess Leia, "Before your execution I would like you to be my guest at a ceremony that will make this battle station operational"?
24. Identify the character who classified the Imperials as "slugs."
- A. Princess Leia
 - B. Han Solo
 - C. Chewie

JEDI MASTER BONUS #4

(Fill in the blank with the correct number)

When Jabba the Hutt and his alien pirates confronted Han Solo in the docking bay at the Mos Eisley spaceport, the crime lord offered the Corellian smuggler a deal, with a warning attached, of course: ". . . for an extra, say _____ percent, I'll give you a little more time . . . but this is it. If you disappoint me again, I'll put a price on your head so large you won't be able to go near a civilized system for the rest of your short life."

25. Who uttered the galactic pearl of prudence, "It's not wise to upset a Wookiee"?
26. (True or False) A skeptical Han Solo referred to the Force and lightsabers as "hokey religions and ancient weapons."
27. Who demanded that Princess Leia be "terminated . . . immediately"?
28. (Fill in the Blank) After Luke acknowledged that with the Force's guidance he "could almost see the remote," Kenobi congratulated his new pupil, "That's good. You have taken your first step into a _____ world."

29. (Fill in the Blank) After the Millennium Falcon was captured by the Death Star's tractor beam, an Imperial officer reported to Darth Vader, "There's no one on board, sir. According to the log, the crew abandoned ship right after takeoff. It must be a _____, sir. Several of the escape pods have been jettisoned."
30. Identify the character who asked, "Who's the more foolish . . . the fool or the fool who follows him?"
 - A. Ben Kenobi
 - B. Princess Leia
 - C. Luke Skywalker
31. (Fill in the Blank) After Luke complained that it was a "wonder that the whole station" didn't know they were aboard the Death Star, Han snapped back, "Bring them on! I prefer a _____ fight to all this sneaking around."
32. Who informed Kenobi that a "power loss at one of the terminals" would allow the Millennium Falcon to flee the Death Star?
33. Who told Luke and Han that Princess Leia was "scheduled to be terminated"?
34. (Fill in the Blank) "Your _____ lies along a different path than mine," Kenobi conceded to Luke. "The Force will be with you . . . always!"
35. Who asked, "Aren't you a little short to be a stormtrooper?"
36. (Fill in the Blank) Darth Vader described Obi-Wan Kenobi's presence aboard the Death Star as a "_____ in the Force."

JEDI MASTER BONUS #5

(Fill in the Blank)

After Darth Vader informed Tarkin that he could sense his old master's presence, the Imperial Grand Moff skeptically replied, "The Jedi are extinct, their _____ has gone out of the universe."

JEDI MASTER BONUS #6

Which character was referred to as "all that was left" of the Jedi "religion"?

37. Who was supposed to be "the brains" behind Princess Leia's rescue from the Death Star battle station?
- A. Ben Kenobi
 - B. Luke Skywalker
 - C. Han Solo
38. Which two characters said at different times, "I've got a bad feeling about this"?
39. Who described Chewie as "a big walking carpet"?
40. Who called Darth Vader "a master of evil"?
41. Owen Lars referred to Kenobi as a "crazy old wizard" and Darth Vader called him an "old man." Who disparagingly suggested that the former Jedi Knight was nothing more than a "fossil" that had been dug up on Tatooine?
42. (Fill in the Blank) As Imperial stormtroopers fired on the escaping Millennium Falcon, Han Solo wished aloud, "I hope the old man got that tractor beam out of _____, or this is going to be a real short trip."

JEDI MASTER BONUS #7

Who screamed, "We've lost lateral controls!" as TIE fighters subjected the fleeing Millennium Falcon to a barrage of fire-power?

43. Who demanded that Obi-Wan Kenobi "not be allowed to escape" from the Death Star battle station?
44. (Fill in the Blank) Leia angrily denounced Han Solo to Luke Skywalker when they arrived at the Yavin base: "Your friend is quite a _____. I wonder if he really cares about anything . . . or anyone."
45. Who said about Han, "He's got to follow his own path. No one can choose it for him"?
46. (Fill in the Blank) When an explosion hit near the droids aboard Princess Leia's Blockade Runner, C-3PO complained, "I should have known better than to trust the _____ of a half-sized thermocapsulary dehousing assister."
47. Who accused Leia of being "part of the Rebel Alliance" and of being a "traitor"?
48. Identify the Imperial officer who warned, "Until this battle station is fully operational we are vulnerable. The Rebel Alliance is too well equipped. They're more dangerous than you realize."
 - A. Admiral Motti
 - B. General Tagge
 - C. Grand Moff Tarkin

(Fill in the Blanks)

Princess Leia stored a holographic message to Obi-Wan Kenobi in R2-D2's memory banks, which said, "General Kenobi, years ago you _____ my father in the Clone Wars. Now he begs you to help him in his _____ against the Empire. I regret that I am unable to present my father's request to you in person; but my ship has fallen under attack, and I'm afraid my _____ to bring you to Alderaan has failed. I have placed information vital to the _____ of the Rebellion into the memory systems of this R2-D2 unit. My father will know how to retrieve it. You must see this droid safely delivered to him on Alderaan. This is our most _____ hour. Help me, Obi-Wan Kenobi, you're my only hope."

49. Who said, "There'll be no escape for the Princess this time"?
- A. Grand Moff Tarkin
 - B. Darth Vader
 - C. C-3PO
50. (Fill in the Blank) As the Tantive IV escape pod rotated through space en route to Tatooine, C-3PO observed, "That's funny, the _____ doesn't look as bad from out here."
51. Who asked, "Will this ever end?"
52. (Fill in the blank with the characters' names) When Luke's uncle Owen requested that the boy stay on the Tatooine moisture farm for "one more season" instead of going to the Academy, Luke shot back, "Yeah, that's what you said last year when _____ and _____ left."

53. (Fill in the Blank) Darth Vader lectured Admiral Motti, "Don't be too proud of this technological _____ you've constructed. The ability to destroy a planet is insignificant next to the power of the Force."
54. (True or False) When Han Solo asked Ben Kenobi if he was involved in "some kind of local trouble," the old Jedi Knight replied rather evasively, "Let's just say we'd like to avoid any Imperial entanglements."

JEDI MASTER BONUS #9

(Fill in the Blanks)

Admiral Motti told Darth Vader in a sarcastic tone aboard the Death Star, "Don't try to frighten us with your _____ ways, Lord Vader. Your sad devotion to that ancient religion has not helped you conjure up the stolen tapes, or given you _____ enough to find the Rebel's hidden fort . . ."

55. Who boasted of the Death Star's awesome firepower, "Any attack made by the Rebels against this station would be a useless gesture, no matter what technical data they've obtained. This station is now the ultimate power in the universe. I suggest we use it"?
- A. Admiral Motti
 - B. General Tagge
 - C. Grand Moff Tarkin
56. (Fill in the Blank) Ben Kenobi described Luke Skywalker's father as "the best starpilot in the galaxy, and a _____ warrior."
- A. Skilled
 - B. Cunning
 - C. Natural

57. (Fill in the Blank) As the droids clumsily worked their way across the desert wasteland of Tatooine, C-3PO complained to R2-D2, "I've got to rest before I fall apart. My _____ are almost frozen."
58. Identify the Imperial officer who bragged that the Empire would "crush the Rebellion with one swift stroke"?
59. Who found Admiral Motti's "lack of faith disturbing"?
60. Name the Imperial who described Princess Leia's "resistance to the mind probe" as "considerable"?

JEDI MASTER BONUS #10

Who referred to Han Solo as "the best smuggler in the business"?

61. (Fill in the Blank) While fleeing Imperial cruisers aboard the Millennium Falcon, Han Solo took the time to lecture Luke Skywalker: "Traveling through hyperspace isn't like dusting crops, boy! Without precise calculations we could fly right through a star or bounce too close to a _____ and that'd end your trip real quick . . .?"
62. (Fill in the Blank) After the Death Star annihilated Alderaan, Ben Kenobi acknowledged that he "felt a great disturbance in the Force . . . as if millions of voices suddenly cried out in _____ and were suddenly silenced."
63. (True or False) C-3PO insisted to Luke Skywalker that he was an "excellent translator" and "very good at telling stories."
64. Identify the Imperial officer who confessed that if the Rebels had obtained a complete technical readout of the Death Star, then it was possible, "however unlikely, that they might find a weakness and exploit it"?

65. (Fill in the Blank) In teaching Luke Skywalker the ways of the Force, Kenobi instructed his young student to "let go your _____ self and act on instinct."
66. Which Imperial bragged, "There'll be no one to stop us this time"?
- A. Grand Moff Tarkin
 - B. Admiral Motti
 - C. Darth Vader
67. Who said, "You know that little droid is going to cause me a lot of trouble"?
- A. C-3PO
 - B. Luke Skywalker
 - C. Han Solo
68. (True or False) When Grand Moff Tarkin announced that the Emperor had dissolved the Imperial Senate, he proclaimed that "fear will keep the local systems in line" in absence of the bureaucracy.

JEDI MASTER BONUS #11

During the Rebel assault on the Death Star, which fighter pilot complimented Wedge Antilles on his "good shooting"?

THE NITPICKER'S GUIDE:

Star Wars: A New Hope

We have reviewed the first installment of the Star Wars trilogy over and over again—scene by scene, and often frame by frame. It's truly amazing the number of bloopers, snafus, inconsistencies, impossibilities and just plain screwups the movie contains when you look hard enough. We would like to make it clear, though, that we are in no way finding fault with this film classic. We are still avid fans and would defend Star Wars to the far ends of the galaxy, but we're not unobservant. Besides, watching for bloopers is a lot of fun!

A Sudden Case of Laryngitis

When our heroes are in the Death Star's trash compactor, watch Luke's mouth just after you hear the dianoga roar. As he turns his head around, you can actually see him mouth the words, "What was that?" but nothing comes out. You'll have to watch closely, though, because it's hardly noticeable.

Mirror, Mirror

Another blooper that occurs several times in the movie is a reversed or "flipped" image created during postproduction editing. This happens when an image is "flipped" as the film is being pieced together, thus making it appear backward. One scene in particular is when Darth Vader and Ben Kenobi are engaged in their lightsaber duel aboard the Death Star. Look closely at Vader's life system computer just below his breastplate while he says, "You should not have come back." It's backward! (Note: In actuality, the entire scene is "flipped," but the life system computer is easier to detect.)

Danger: Low Clearance

One of the more infamous blooper scenes also occurs on the Death Star. When the stormtroopers blast their way into the Control Room where C-3PO and R2-D2 are hiding, the Imperial soldier on the far right knocks his head against the "not fully raised" automatic door.

Peekabóo, I See You

When R2-D2 is initially placed into the sandcrawler by the Jawa traders, he looks around at all the other creatures inside the desert transport vehicle. We see another astromech droid, R5-D4, followed by a camera shot of more creatures, and then another view of R5-D4. Immediately following the second shot, the camera turns back to R2-D2 and you can see Kenny Baker's face through the little droid's domed head.

Have Blaster, Will Travel

At the beginning of the scene in which Darth Vader interrogates a Rebel aboard the Tantive IV, the leftmost stormtrooper is holding his blaster at waist level. When the camera cuts to another angle, the Imperial soldier is holding the weapon up to his chest. But when the camera returns to the original angle, the blaster does a David Copperfield and is back at the stormtrooper's waist.

C-3PO Shows How You Can Get Those Nasty Stains Out

As C-3PO walks past the skeleton of the dragonlike creature on Tatooine, the droid has a large grease stain down the left side of his golden chest. A few scenes later, the stain appears on his right side. Once again, this is a direct result of “flipping” an image in postproduction editing.

If It Ain't Broke, Don't Fix It

After Luke's uncle Owen purchases the R5-D4 astromech droid from the Jawas, it malfunctions. As Owen gestures to R2-D2 and the little droid's head turns, the audience sees the previous shot of the diminutive desert traders prepping R5-D4 from BEFORE Owen Lars decided to buy him.

Just Like One of those Bad Japanese Martial Arts Movies

In all the scenes involving Luke's aunt Beru, her lips are never moving in synch with her spoken dialogue. After the film's original release, George Lucas reportedly felt that the actress's voice was too low and dubbed over all of her lines in succeeding prints of the movie.

Sleight of Hand

During the dinner scene between Luke and his aunt and uncle, the boy is holding a cup in his left hand. A few frames later, he is holding it in his right hand, which is most likely a result of the images being “flipped.”

Maybe Luke Should Have Thrown the Circuit Breaker

In Ben Kenobi's small hut on Tatooine's Western Dune Sea, the old Jedi Knight is telling Luke of his father when C-3PO requests that he be powered off. Although Luke complies, the droid's head turns in reaction to Ben's energizing of Anakin Skywalker's lightsaber.

Where's a Crash Test Dummy When You Need One?

If you freeze the frames immediately before Han Solo blasts the Rodian bounty hunter, Greedo, in the Mos Eisley cantina, it is obvious that a really bad-looking dummy is substituted for the actor prior to Greedo's death from the weapon's blast. The stunt dummy is much taller and thinner than the actor, is wearing a different jacket, and worse still—is not pointing a gun at Han!

Maybe Greedo Was Wearing a Blasterproof Vest

While Luke, Ben and the two droids head to the Mos Eisley docking bay to board the Millennium Falcon, the camera cuts to an Imperial spy—a hooded alien with huge, round eyes and an elongated snout. As he watches our heroes from the shadows, a variety of humanoids and alien creatures pass by to and fro in the background. One in particular bears an uncanny resemblance to Jabba the Hutt's hired muscle, Greedo, whom Han killed with a blaster only a few moments earlier. Of course, it is possible that the alien is just another member of the Rodian species, but would he be wearing the same clothing as Greedo? Yeah, that's what we thought, too.

Hey, Buddy, You Better Take a Taxi Home

Just after Han tells Luke and Ben, "It looks like someone's beginning to take an interest in your handiwork," the camera pans over the crowded Mos Eisley cantina to a pair of Imperial stormtroopers walking toward their corner table. Pay close attention to the mousy-looking alien with the see-through eyes. As he takes a drink, he very distinctly misses his mouth and hits his chin instead.

Hey, Which Way Did He Go?

In the scene where Han and Chewie run into the cockpit of the Falcon during the shoot-'em-up with the Imperial stormtroopers in the Mos Eisley docking bay, there is a person with a green shirt standing in the corridor. A moment later, he moves out of the shot. (Note: This blooper only appears in the letterbox version of the movie.)

Bouncing Off the Walls

During the opening sequence of the movie aboard the Rebel Blockade Runner, Princess Leia is seen storing the Death Star's technical readouts into R2-D2's memory banks to be retrieved by Obi-Wan Kenobi. After she completes her mission, the little droid starts to roll away. However, if the scene had continued, R2-D2 would have rolled into the wall of the transport.

But Can You Saw a Woman in Half?

Near the end of the segment in which R2-D2 projects to Luke the Princess Leia hologram, C-3PO is shown holding a rag. In the next camera shot he isn't, in the succeeding shot ("I'm sorry, sir, but he appears to have picked up a slight flutter") he has the rag again, and in the final shot the droid is shown empty-handed once more.

Is This Where Eveready® Got the Idea for the Darth Vader/Energizer® Bunny Commercial?

During the infamous lightsaber duel between Obi-Wan Kenobi and Darth Vader aboard the Death Star, there are several times when you can see a white power cord used to illuminate Kenobi's Jedi weapon.

Only the Shadow Knows

How can power swords, which project narrow beams of meter-long pure energy, cast shadows? They can be noticed in several instances on the corridor walls during the Kenobi-Vader lightsaber battle.

He'll Never Get a Job Colorizing Movies for Ted Turner

Just after Vader kills Obi-Wan, the Dark Lord's lightsaber blade is white instead of the usual red. Coloring of the weapons' beams was added in postproduction, but reportedly an optical effects technician didn't take care of business in this particular scene.

Now You See It, Now You Don't

There is a medium-brown macrame-type "shawl" hanging on the left side of the plaster arch in Obi-Wan's house. Right after Kenobi says to Luke, "This is the weapon of a Jedi Knight . . .," the shawl disappears from the scene. But after Luke turns off the lightsaber, it shows back up for a return engagement.

And We Thought Michael Jackson was "The Gloved One"

When Luke is sitting at the bar in the Mos Eisley saloon, he takes a quick glance around the room. The camera then gives us shots of various alien creatures, including two blue-skinned Duros engaged in lively conversation. If you look at their hands, the one on the right has immense, purple, and very alien-looking fingers and palms, but the Duros on the left (remember the two are of the same species) is wearing white gloves over obviously human hands.

Excuse Me, Lord Vader, But Did You Say Something?

During a scene between Vader and Grand Moff Tarkin aboard the Death Star, the Dark Lord stops talking but keeps gesturing as though he is continuing to speak dialogue. Tarkin doesn't reply until after Vader is finished with his gesticulation. It is painfully obvious with this particular sequence that there existed some difficulty in synchronizing James Earl Jones' voice with David Prowse's movements.

"Chewie, Reverse Engines While We've Got a Chance!"

When the Millennium Falcon is captured by the Death Star's tractor beam, it is pulled aboard the Imperial battle station. As the stock freighter enters the hangar bay, watch the bottom center of the ship as it passes through the massive portal. The edge of the door is illuminated with a white light, but as the Falcon passes through, the light is "broken" by the vertical pole that was used to hold the visual effects model of the ship.

One Step Forward, Two Steps Back

During the firefight inside the Death Star's detention area, Leia shoots a hole in the grate leading to the trash compactor and jumps in, tossing her blaster to Luke. Chewie begins to follow and places one hairy foot into the hole. The camera then cuts away to Han firing his gun down the corridor of the battle station. The camera cuts back to the Wookiee, who once again walks toward the hole leading to the compactor and places the same foot into the grate opening. For some unknown reason, Chewie enters the trash compactor twice.

Wonder Woman

Watch Leia's left hand as she grabs a metal pole in the trash compactor to try and brace the walls. The rod actually crunches momentarily when she grasps it, and when she loosens her grip it returns to normal.

A Change of Plans

During the Rebel briefing by General Dodonna, he shows the starfighter pilots the Death Star's technical readouts downloaded from R2-D2's memory banks. The detailed plans are flawed, however, because they show the main turret centered along the equator of the moon-shaped battle station. As demonstrated during the film's climactic Rebel assault, the Death Star's turret was clearly on the northern hemisphere.

He Talks Out of Both Sides of His Mouth

As the Rebel fleet of starfighters approaches the Death Star, Red Leader's helmet-attached microphone switches from side to side; it's particularly noticeable as he speaks the line, "All wings, report in!"

After Red Leader says "Watch it, there's a lot of fire coming from the right side of that deflection tower," you can't help but notice that Luke's microphone switches over to the opposite side of his helmet for that camera shot.

And We Thought the Death Star Was Fully Operational

During any scene set in the battle station's conference room you can see the stage panels incessantly swinging back and forth in the background behind Grand Moff Tarkin and Darth Vader. This is especially noticeable during the sequence just after the Millennium Falcon is brought aboard the Death Star by a tractor beam. As an Imperial comlink voice briefs Tarkin and Vader on the cap-

No Strain to See the Crane

As Princess Leia is about to be tortured aboard the Death Star, you can plainly see the crane in Leia's cell that was used to make the interrogation droid appear to float. It's between the robot and the right edge of the door.

On a Clear Day You Can See Forever

When Luke and Ben enter the Mos Eisley cantina the camera pans around the galactic watering hole, showing us a virtual rogue's gallery of alien thieves and smugglers. One exotic-looking life-form in particular is a small, "mousy" alien who is begging for a drink at the bar (he's the same one who hit his chin with a drink). Look closely at his eyes as he turns his head and you can see right through his head.

I Thought You Said This Ship Came Fully Loaded?

When Chewie escorts Luke, Ben and the two droids to the Mos Eisley docking bay, the audience gets its first glimpse of the Millennium Falcon. Take note of the top right of the screen: the freighter is missing its trademark radar dish.

It Depends If You Are Inside Looking Out, Or Outside Looking In

If you look at the TIE starfighters closely during the Rebel assault on the Death Star, you will notice a distinct difference in configuration of the cockpit windows of the miniature models compared to the pilot's view from inside of the Imperial fighters.

Depending on whether the camera is providing an interior shot from within the cockpit or an exterior shot of the visual effects model, there is also an inconsistency in the number of window frames on the Millennium Falcon.

Since When Did Laser Rifles Eject Spent Cases?

The movie's laser rifles were in reality modified Sterling 9mm sub-machine guns. When filming the Star Wars' multitude of firefights and shoot-outs, blank bullets were utilized to simulate "kick-backs" and to let the cast member or extra know when the rifle was fired. Unfortunately, the altered weapons ejected spent cases as if they were real bullets.

They Must Have Still Been Firing Blanks

Just after Han shoots the control panel inside the Death Star and yells to Luke, take a close look over his shoulder on the screen's left side. It's kind of hard to NOT notice the two racks of security cameras hanging from the ceiling, undamaged, even after our heroes very painstakingly destroyed them all.

Maybe She Didn't Like the Smell on That Side of the Compactor

After Luke gets pulled under a sea of waste by the dianoga, Leia and Han wait nervously for him to resurface. The camera cuts to the princess as she leans to screen left against some garbage. The camera then goes in for a close-up of Leia, who is now leaning forward and to screen right with no time to change positions between camera shots.

Only the Shadow Knows . . . Again

Right before the line "Didn't we just leave this party?" when Han and Chewie arrive in the corridor leading to the Millennium Falcon ahead of Luke and Leia, you can see the shadows of the latter two as they await their cue to run in.

More Flip-Flops Than a Politician

After Leia speaks the line of dialogue, “We have no time for sorrows, Commander,” the camera cuts to R2-D2 being unloaded from a transport that has just arrived at the Yavin Rebel base. The scene was obviously reversed during postproduction editing. The most obvious tell-tale sign: Han’s holster is hanging off his left hip instead of the usual right.

Maybe They Need to Get the Speedometer Recalibrated

After the Millennium Falcon escapes from the Death Star and battles free of the Imperial TIE starfighters, the freighter makes the jump to hyperspace. The camera cuts back to a conversation between Grand Moff Tarkin and Darth Vader, and then back again to the cockpit of the Falcon. As Han and Leia talk away, the plain stars of “normal space” and not the blurry, elongated stars of hyperspace, are clearly visible outside the windows.

Hit and Run

Near the beginning of the movie, C-3PO dents the left side of his head when he falls and breaks off one of his arms. The dent remains on the droid all through the film, but in one particular shot at the end, when he’s standing next to Princess Leia in the Rebel Control Room, the dent is on his right side and Leia is on his other side, due to the scene’s postproduction “flip.”

He Talks Out of Both Sides of His Mouth . . . Again

After Biggs Darklighter’s death, when Luke’s starfighter is fired upon by Imperial forces, the boy speaks into his microphone announcing to the Control Room that he’s all right. The audience gets a view of one of the controllers, whose headset is on his left ear, but in the next camera cut it’s on his right.

Princess Carrie?

In the scene right after the Death Star is destroyed, Luke arrives at the Yavin Rebel base and is reunited with Han and Leia. The princess comes running up to him just as he descends the X-wing's ladder, but he calls the character by the actress's name, as he joyfully yells, "Carrie!" (Note: Although some fans swear that they hear "Hey!"—ourselves included—or some other words to that effect, George Lucas has admitted that Mark Hamill inadvertently called out, "Carrie!" during filming of the scene.)

Keep Smiling, Princess

During the medals ceremony after the Death Star's destruction, we are shown a close-up of Han, and then the camera cuts back to Princess Leia, who is displaying a very wide smile. She turns to screen right to get Solo's Hero of Yavin medallion from General Dodonna, but when the camera shows us a slightly wider angle, Leia's mouth is closed.

The Eyes Have It

George Lucas wanted to make the eyes of Darth Vader's mask completely dark, but was unable to achieve the effect in the first film. Although it was fixed in the other two installments of the Star Wars saga, you can actually see the face of David Prowse, "the man behind the mask," through the eyeholes.

Chewie, Will You Please Stand Still?

Watch the Wookiee when the walls of the Death Star's trash compactor begin closing in on our heroes. His position changes in three camera cuts: first, he is shown pushing against the wall with his hairy hands; second, he turns to screen right to grab his cross-bow laser; finally, we are shown a shot of Chewie once again holding the wall.

Watch That Last Step, C-3P0!

During the scene on Tatooine, when Luke is cleaning R2-D2 (and just after the line of dialogue, “Well, my little friend, you’ve got something jammed in here real good . . .”) the hologram of Princess Leia is projected, and C-3P0 falls off the step he is on.

Perhaps It’s Like a Soap Opera: Unless You See a Dead Body—They Aren’t dead

As the Rebel starfighters attack the Death Star, Porkins (Red 6) is killed during the conflict. Later on in the movie, as Luke is piloting his X-wing down a trench in the battle station, Darth Vader secures a direct hit on a section of the boy’s fighter. He asks R2-D2 to determine if he can repair the damage, and immediately following the scene, someone queries on the intercom, “. . . Red 6, have you seen Red 5?” But how could Red 6 answer? He’s dead already!

STAR WARFARE

The civil war between the Alliance to Restore the Republic and the tyrannical Galactic Empire involved a vast war machine on both sides. From a starfighter's pivoting blaster cannons to a Jedi Knight's lightsaber, test your knowledge of Rebel and Imperial weaponry.

1. What type of tactical weapons did the Rebel fighters use to penetrate the defenses of both Death Star battle stations?
 - A. Ion cannons
 - B. Proton torpedoes
 - C. Laser cannons
2. (True or False) Planetary ion cannons were used to protect Rebel transports evacuating the Rebel base on Hoth from orbital assault by Imperial forces.
3. Identify the specialized equipment aboard starfighters and other military vessels that worked in conjunction with the ships' navicomputers to calculate hostile targets' trajectories and attack and intercept courses.
4. (Fill in the Blank) Princess Leia, in the disguise of a bounty hunter, tried to impress Jabba the Hutt by threatening to blow up the crime lord and his palace on Tatooine with a _____ detonator.

5. How many forward laser cannons were mounted on a Rebel Y-wing model starfighter?
6. What was the armament complement of wing-tipped laser cannons on an X-wing starfighter?

JEDI MASTER BONUS #1

How many quad laser cannons and concussion missile launchers were installed on the Millennium Falcon?

7. How many pivoting blaster cannons were mounted on the wings of a Rebel A-wing starfighter?
8. (Fill in the Blank) An Imperial AT-AT's armament consisted of heavy _____ cannons mounted on each side of the walker's movable "head" and under the "chin."
 - A. ion
 - B. laser
 - C. blaster
9. What type of crossbow laser was the Wookiee Chewbacca's weapon of choice?
10. What was the color of Darth Vader's lightsaber blade?
 - A. Red
 - B. Blue
 - C. Yellow
11. What type of weapons were in the knees of Boba Fett's Mandalore battle armor?
 - A. Lasers
 - B. Rocket darts
 - C. Sonic stunners

12. (Fill in the blanks with the correct numbers) B-wing starfighters were armed with _____ internally mounted proton torpedo launchers and _____ small blaster cannons.

JEDI MASTER BONUS #2

Where was the forward gun pod hidden on the Millennium Falcon?

13. Identify the traditional double-edged, axelike weapon favored by Tusken Raiders.

- A. "I heard the command center had been hit."
 - B. "I wanted to see you to your transport safely."
 - C. "I couldn't leave without saying goodbye, your Worshipfulness."
58. Who told C-3PO to "hurry up" and get aboard the Millennium Falcon or the droid was "going to be a permanent resident" of the Rebel base?
59. Who admitted, "I don't know how we're going to get out of this one"?

JEDI MASTER BONUS #12

What was Han Solo's five-word response after C-3PO informed him that the possibility of the Millennium Falcon "successfully navigating an asteroid field" was "approximately three thousand, seven hundred and twenty to one"?

60. Which character aboard the Millennium Falcon believed that the ship and its occupants would be "pulverized" if they remained within the asteroid field?
- A. C-3PO
 - B. Han Solo
 - C. Princess Leia
61. (Fill in the Blank) As Luke's X-wing approached Dagobah, he reported to R2-D2 that the starfighter's computer scope was "not picking up any cities or _____. Massive life-form readings, though. There's something alive down there . . ."

JEDI MASTER BONUS #13

Based upon Luke's reply, what was R2-D2's "slightly worried question" after the boy reported immense life-form readings were emanating from Dagobah?

62. What explanation did Luke give R2-D2 for the bog beast spitting the little droid out of its mouth?
- A. "You must have left it with a bad taste."
 - B. "You're lucky you don't taste very good."
 - C. "I guess you gave it a bad case of indigestion."
63. Which character wondered if he was "going crazy"?
64. What was Darth Vader's reply after Admiral Piett expressed his concerns about sending Imperial ships into the asteroid field to pursue the Millennium Falcon?
- A. "I want that ship, Admiral, not excuses about asteroids."
 - B. "Your men and their ships are disposable. I want that ship and its traitors."
 - C. "Asteroids do not concern me, Admiral. I want that ship and not excuses."
65. Who was the first to figure out that the asteroid the Millennium Falcon landed on was "not entirely stable"?
- A. C-3PO
 - B. Chewie
 - C. Han Solo
66. (Fill in the Blank) An angry Princess Leia informed Han Solo that "being _____ by you isn't quite enough to get me excited."
67. Who demanded, "Away with your weapon! I mean you no harm"?

68. Before he knew Yoda's true identity, what did Luke tell the little creature he was looking for on Dagobah?
- A. "A great warrior"
 - B. "A Jedi Master of great importance"
 - C. "A true guardian of justice and freedom"
69. (Fill in the Blank) After "talking" to the Millennium Falcon's computer system in an effort to repair the freighter's hyperdrive, C-3PO complained to Han, "I don't know where your ship learned to communicate, but it has the most peculiar _____."
70. What derogatory name did Leia ask Han to refrain from calling her?
71. What was Han's response after Leia asked him to stop massaging her hands, because they were "dirty"?
- A. "Who cares, Leia. Your heart is clean."
 - B. "My hands are dirty, too. What are you afraid of?"
 - C. "You've run out of excuses, Leia."

JEDI MASTER BONUS #14

(Fill in the Blank)

C-3PO interrupted Han and Leia's passionate kiss with the announcement, "Sir, sir! I've isolated the _____ power flux coupling."

72. Identify the Imperial officer who surmised that the Millennium Falcon "must have been destroyed" in the asteroid field considering "the amount of damage we've sustained."
73. Who acknowledged that there was "a great disturbance in the Force"?

- A. Darth Vader
- B. Yoda
- C. The Emperor

74. Who did not consider Luke Skywalker a threat to the Empire, calling him “just a boy”?
75. What was Luke’s reply when Yoda asked him why he wished to become a Jedi Knight?
- A. “Mostly because of my father, I guess.”
 - B. “They are great warriors.”
 - C. “I have always dreamed of becoming one.”
76. (True or False) Yoda taught Luke that “a Jedi must have the deepest sense of honor, the most serious intentions.”

- A. “Adventure . . . excitement”
 - B. “Danger . . . thrills”
 - C. “Revenge . . . retribution”
78. What was Yoda’s prediction when Luke told the Jedi Master that he was “not afraid”?
- A. “You will encounter the dark side and it will frighten you.”
 - B. “Oh, you will be. You will be.”
 - C. “Wait until you meet those strong in the dark side of the Force.”

JEDI MASTER BONUS #15

According to Master Yoda, what three emotions were typical in those strong in the dark side of the Force?

JEDI MASTER BONUS #16

(Fill in the Blank)

As part of Luke's Jedi training, Yoda warned his new student that "once you start down the dark path, forever will it _____ your destiny, consume you it will, as it did Obi-Wan's apprentice."

JEDI MASTER BONUS #17

What was Yoda's answer when Luke asked him what was inside the huge, darkly tangled tree?

79. Who told C-3PO to "shut up" when he began to quote "the odds of surviving a direct assault on an Imperial Star Destroyer"?
80. Identify the Imperial officer who assumed "full responsibility for losing" the Millennium Falcon during pursuit of the Rebel ship?
81. What was Yoda's explanation for Luke's failure to grasp the full power of the Force?
82. Who lectured Han Solo, "... this time you have gone too far" when he piloted the Millennium Falcon directly toward the Imperial Star Destroyer, Avenger?
83. Who referred to the Millennium Falcon as "the fastest hunk of junk in the galaxy"?
 - A. Han Solo
 - B. Princess Leia
 - C. Lando Calrissian
84. What did Lando Calrissian consider "the price you pay for being successful"?

85. What was the “promise” Luke made to Yoda before departing for Bespin’s Cloud City?
86. Who warned Luke, “If you choose to face Vader, you will do it alone”?
87. (Fill in the Blank) Yoda’s parting advice to Luke was “Strong is Vader. Mind what you have _____. Save you it can.”
88. Who complained to Darth Vader after hearing Han Solo’s screams filter through the torture room door, “He’s no good to me dead”?
89. Identify the character who sarcastically referred to Lando Calrissian as “a real hero”?
90. Who called Cloud City “crude” but “adequate”?

JEDI MASTER BONUS #18

Who deduced that they were “the bait” for Darth Vader’s “trap” for Luke on Bespin’s Cloud City facility?

JEDI MASTER BONUS #19

Who apologized for Chewie’s violent behavior by stating, “After all, he’s only a Wookiee”?

THE NITPICKER'S GUIDE:

The Empire Strikes Back

On-camera bloopers, continuity problems, inconsistencies and reversed images remain forever on film in the second installment of the Star Wars trilogy.

We've Heard of Faster Than a Speeding Bullet, But This is Really Fast!

During the scene in which a Star Destroyer-led Imperial fleet clears a path through the asteroid field with a barrage of fire-power in search of the Millennium Falcon, the first asteroid actually begins to explode one or two frames before the Destroyer's laser blast actually strikes it.

Read My Lips

Princess Leia snaps at Han when a tremor from the space slug throws her into his arms, "Captain, being held by you is hardly enough to get me excited." Look closely at Solo's lips and you will see that he's mouthing her dialogue at the same time. Carrie Fisher, who later admitted to using drugs during the movie's filming, had probably forgotten her line and was getting a little help from her costar.

Don't Let It Go to Your Head

When Chewie enters the Cloud City “junk” room to collect the dismembered remains of C-3PO, a reflection of the camera and several of the crew can be seen in the close-up of the droid’s head on the conveyor belt.

More Moves Than Chess Pieces

Lando Calrissian and Han constantly switch sides from one shot to the next during the scene when the Cloud City administrator escorts them down the corridors for “refreshment” in the dining room. In one shot, Solo is on Leia’s right with Lando on her left, but in the next shot, the two men have flip-flopped positions. During the remainder of the scene Han remains on the princess’ left.

Someone Gave Luke a Hand

Just before Luke drops out of the bottom of the Cloud City air shaft after his climactic lightsaber duel with Darth Vader, you can catch a quick glimpse of the boy with his right hand still attached, although it was sliced off only moments before by his father.

Spare the Rod

During the seconds just before Darth Vader powers on his lightsaber for the first time in Cloud City, you can distinctly see the actual uncolored rod. However, it isn’t white as it was in Star Wars: A New Hope, but dark gray, which blends in against Vader’s black costume and the dark lighting of the Bespin carbon freezing chamber. (Note: The rod of the lightsaber is aimed almost directly at the camera to show the least possible surface area.)

They Don't Call Him Skywalker for Nothing

After Luke knocks Vader off the edge and jumps down behind him during their lightsaber duel, you can hear him land and then bounce upward on a trampolinelike device. Then, for a brief moment, Luke's head reappears at the bottom of the screen.

More Magic Tricks

As Darth Vader uses the dark side of the Force to mentally hurl boxes and objects at Luke (who is deflecting them with his lightsaber) during their one-on-one battle aboard Cloud City, one of the pieces breaks the window into the immense shaft, and Luke is sucked through. In the next shot, we see him dangling precariously from a catwalk with both hands, and we can only assume that Luke lost his saber when he was abruptly pulled into the void (we seriously doubt he had time to holster the weapon). Yet, in the following sequence he is shown holding his lightsaber again. (Note: This inconsistency is in actuality a direct result of the conversion from film to home video with its modified form of chopped sides. In the letterbox edition, the saber is near the edge of the screen, lying on the catwalk.)

Fashion Statement

During the scene in which Darth Vader asks Admiral Piett, "Did your men disable the Millennium Falcon's hyperdrive?" the Imperial officer's rank insignia switches from the left side of his uniform to the right.

Head Job

When our Rebel heroes are on Bespin's Cloud City, watch for the scene in which the stormtroopers return Han to his cell with Chewie and C-3PO. When the Imperial soldiers drop Han on the floor, keep an eye on the helmet of the stormtrooper on the right. It appears that Solo's arm gets caught momentarily under the trooper's helmet and lifts it just a little off his head. As the soldier exits the cell, you can see that his helmet is slightly askew.

If At First You Don't Succeed . . .

When the Rebel officer gives the order to close the base's shield doors on Hoth, you can see them begin to shut over Chewie's shoulder, but no sound is emitted. The camera cuts to wider shot of Chewie and the doors, and this time they are motionless. Then the shield doors begin to close for a second time, but at least they finally produce the desired sound effects.

Bull's-Eye

When Chewie takes cover around the corner of a corridor on Cloud City, the first of two shots hits the wall and leaves a scorched hole. The second weapon's blast comes only seconds after the first and strikes exactly the same charred spot on the wall.

Another Bull's-Eye

During their lightsaber duel on the catwalk above the shaft on Cloud City, Darth Vader's fierce charge forces Luke backward. Swinging violently at the boy, the Dark Lord slices through a railing and creates a light show of electric discharge. If you pay close attention, you can see the remnants of black tape, which more than likely secured some sort of pyrotechnic device at the exact spot where Vader struck the railing and caused the wild display of sparks.

Maybe It Was Armed with a Remote-Controlled Detonation Device

During the pursuit of the Millennium Falcon by Imperial forces through the asteroid field, the camera angle cuts to a wide shot. Something very clearly detonates on the surface of one of the asteroids (it even makes the appropriate sound), but nothing is shown striking it. There are two TIE starfighters chasing the Falcon at this point; but both ships are visible, and neither of them is the cause of the explosion. More than likely, however, there was originally more film footage shot for the scene, and the real cause of the detonation ended up on the editing room floor.

What Size of Boots Does a Wookiee Wear?

During a scene on Cloud City, when Chewie is running away from the camera, the angle is such that you can see the bottoms of the Wookiee's feet. What is visible, however, is the heel and sole of the boots of Peter Mayhew's costume.

Stealth Lightsaber

During Luke and Vader's climactic battle on the Cloud City catwalk, just after the Dark Lord says "... don't make me destroy you" and before the line of dialogue "... you do not yet realize your importance ..." the scene switches between a shot of Vader from the torso up, to a shot of Luke from over his father's shoulder. Note that Vader's lightsaber has been activated until this point, but now it has mysteriously been turned off. The weapon does not make the characteristic sound of a lightsaber being retracted, and in fact, you can even hear the hum of Vader's weapon until the camera angle changes. Then the sound abruptly disappears.

They Don't Make Droids Like They Used To

When C-3PO walks in on Han and Leia kissing and lifts his arm to tap Solo's shoulder, the "hydraulic mechanism" attached to his elbow and upper arm becomes detached. If you look closely, you can catch a glimpse of it falling to the floor. Then miraculously the "mechanism" appears protruding out of the droid's upper arm, no longer attached to his elbow.

APPEARANCES CAN BE DECEIVING: JEDI MASTER YODA

Imperial Security Bureau (ISB) Dossier #WLD-938

1. (Fill in the blank with the correct number) Yoda was a powerful Jedi Knight who eventually evolved into a Jedi Master of extreme power and ability. For _____ hundred years, this small, elfish, green-skinned being served as a mentor and teacher, training young Jedi in the use of the Force.

THE NITPICKER'S GUIDE:

Return of the Jedi

Plot oversights, changed premises, equipment oddities, and continuity and production problems continue with the final installment in the Star Wars saga.

You Would Think They'd At Least Look at a Videotape of The Empire Strikes Back

Before Han Solo was lowered into the carbonite freezing chamber toward the end of The Empire Strikes Back, he has shackles around the upper half of his torso, which hold his arms next to his body. An Ugnaught removes the shackles, but the harnesslike strap remains. However, when he is unfrozen in Return of the Jedi, Solo is no longer restrained by the strap.

Also in the same scenes, Han is not wearing his trademark vest in close-ups, just his white shirt. When the camera cuts to long shots, he is once again wearing the vest. Solo is wearing a tunic-style shirt when he is frozen at Cloud City, but when he is thawed at Jabba's palace he is attired in a double-breasted shirt. One final note: when Han is frozen in the previous movie, his shirt is untucked, but in Jedi it is tucked in.

They Probably Didn't Give Him a Raise in Pay, Either

After Piett is promoted from captain to admiral in The Empire Strikes Back, his rank insignia is upgraded from three red and blue bars to six. However, throughout the events that occur in Return of the Jedi, his insignia is three red and blue bars, even though Piett still holds the rank of admiral.

More Flip-Flops

Watch for the scene in Jabba the Hutt's palace on Tatooine in which the bounty hunter Boushh (Leia in disguise) exposes a thermal detonator. When Boba Fett draws his blaster rifle, note that his rangefinder is on the wrong side of his helmet. Also, the emblems on his armor breastplate are backward, his cape is hanging off his right shoulder (usually it's on the left) and Fett draws with his left hand instead of his right. The entire scene has been "flipped" during the film's postproduction editing.

It's a Good Thing He was Wearing a Helmet

When Lando Calrissian first appears in disguise at Jabba's desert palace, watch closely and you will see that he scrapes his helmet against the low ceiling just before he pulls his mask down to show the audience his true identity. He hits his head hard enough to knock the mask backward for a brief second.

We've Heard That Line Before

When R2-D2 and C-3PO first enter Jabba's throne room, the audience can hear a variety of alien voices in the background. One of the more distinct dialects is the Rodian bounty hunter, Greedo, speaking the exact same dialogue he rattled off to Han just before the Corellian smuggler killed him with a blaster in Star Wars: A New Hope.

Running Backward

Just after R2-D2 plays Luke's hologram to Jabba and his entourage of fawning criminal associates, the film actually begins running backward as evidenced by the smoke moving downward and back into the water pipe. Also, note that the bubbles in his hookah are moving downward.

Oogling at Oola

Oola, one of the slave girls serving in Jabba's court, accidentally "falls out of her costume" during a medium close-up shot when the crime lord tries to drag the dancer toward him. Her breast can be seen for one or two frames of film. (Note: This blooper has been deleted from the VHS letterbox version.)

Another Fashion Statement

When Leia looks out the window on Jabba's sail barge at Han, Luke and Chewie, the Wookiee's bandolier is hanging from his right shoulder to his left hip. In the next shot (when Han says, "3PO, you tell that slimy piece . . ."), notice that Chewie's bandolier is now hanging from his left shoulder to his right hip.

Maybe It Was the Force

During the battle on the skiffs over the Sarlacc pit, Luke swings at Boba Fett with his lightsaber and slices the bounty hunter's weapon in two. If you watch the scene in slow motion, however, you will see that Fett's gun begins to explode one frame before Luke actually destroys it with his saber.

Lando Must Have Learned This Trick From Chewie

When Han and Lando are talking in the Rebel hangar, just before the strike team departs in the stolen Imperial shuttle, Tydirium, the gun belt across Lando's chest changes sides between different cuts during the same scene.

C-3PO Is Wired

After R2-D2 rescues his counterpart from Salacious Crumb, C-3PO says, "Well, I can't possibly . . ." and the little droid pushes C-3PO off of the edge of the skiff. Look closely and you will be able to see several wires pulling the droid off of the surface utility vehicle.

The Emperor's Big Steps

After the Emperor lands on the Death Star, he speaks with Darth Vader as they walk slowly past the legions of Imperial troops. At the end of their conversation, there is a tight shot of the Emperor directly in front of a multitude of gray-suited officers. But when the camera cuts to a wide angle shot, the Emperor's background is a seemingly endless mass of white and black clad stormtroopers.

Ambidextrous Luke

During the speeder bike chase on Endor's moon, the glove covering Luke's prosthetic is on his right hand. In the next shot it is on his left, and then back to his right in the third shot before he jumps off and the speeder bike crashes.

Han Must Have Radar

Han attempts to sneak up behind a biker scout but steps on a twig, alerting the Imperial to Solo's presence. The stormtrooper quickly turns and whacks Han in the face. If you pay close attention or slow the videotape to frame-by-frame, you can see that Solo actually begins to recoil from the hit before the trooper even lays a hand on him.

Luke Must Have Been Using the Force . . . Again

Boba Fett is struck by Han and his rocket pack misfires, sending the bounty hunter flying into Tatooine's desert sky. The camera follows Fett's flight for a moment and then cuts to a scene showing the bow of a skiff. Luke kicks one of Jabba the Hutt's henchmen, but the boy very clearly misses him by a few inches. Nevertheless, the criminal tumbles to his doom in the Sarlacc pit.

Maybe Lando Was Carrying Gloves in His Back Pockets

When Lando is hanging onto the skiff to keep from falling to his death, he is not wearing gloves in any of the close-up shots. Yet, in the wide camera angles, he has black gloves over his hands.

Give Luke a Hand

During the battle on Jabba's sail barge, Luke is on the deck when his hand gets shot, and then it appears scorched and scarred. If you pause the picture for one or two frames before he's hit, you will notice that his hand is already charred. The next time we see Luke's hand is when he is running to get the rope so that he and Leia can swing to safety. During this quick shot, the boy's hand appears to be in perfect condition. But a frame or two later, when he actually retrieves the rope, the audience can attest to the fact that his hand is severely damaged once again. And when the couple swing across the desert, it seems to be magically regenerated. Finally, when Luke departs Tatooine for Dagobah in his starfighter, the hand really appears scarred and ravaged by a weapon's blast.

Lando's Vanishing Act

Just before Luke is to be pushed into the Sarlacc pit, he nods at Lando to his right. The camera switches to other shots, and when the camera comes back to the skiff guard prodding Luke to take the plunge (and after Jabba orders, "Put him in!"), there is a quick view of Lando, who is now in the background on Luke's left side. The succeeding shot shows Luke jumping into the Sarlacc pit with Han and Chewie in the same position Lando was in during the previous camera angle.

Which Way Did They Go?

Moments before the Emperor's shuttle lands aboard the Death Star, a stream of Imperial TIE starfighters are circling the battle station in a parade formation. In the first few frames of this scene, two TIE squadrons fly out from behind the camera toward the main fighter group. Just before the first squadron converges with the principal assemblage, and only a moment or two before the scene concludes, the squadron disappears from the picture.

Han Shows Off His Batman Impersonation

When Luke and Company are about to be thrown into the Sarlacc pit, Han and Lando are standing on the levitating platform. One of Jabba's henchmen fires a shot, effectively hitting the vehicle and causing it to tilt at a precarious angle. As everybody clammers to balance themselves, Han grabs hold of the edge of the ship and desperately hangs on for dear life. A few frames later, however, he is shown hanging by his feet! If you watch closely, though, when Han goes out of view of the camera angle, you can see his shadow as he begins to pull himself up and flip around to hang by his feet.

No Attachments

The swing that Luke and Leia take to get away from Jabba's soon-to-be-destroyed sail barge is physically impossible, as there is nothing to anchor the rope. The angles from their departure, and when the two land, effectively proves that the rope is attached to a point somewhere between the skiff and the sail barge. Unfortunately, on film there is nothing there but the desert of Tatooine.

Course Correction

During Mon Mothma's Rebel briefing on the Empire's second Death Star, the lights darken and a hologram of Endor's moon and the battle station appear in the middle of the conference room. When the hologram begins projecting its three-dimensional images, the Death Star orbits the moon from screen left to screen right. During all subsequent shots of the hologram, the Imperial battle station orbits from right to left.

Try, Try Again

After Leia regains consciousness from her fall off the speeder bike (and encounters Wicket the Ewok), she sits down on a log and takes off her helmet. The camera cuts to another angle that clearly shows it removed, but then a closer shot shows her taking the helmet off again. (Note: This blooper is best viewed on the letter-boxed version as you can see the helmet off her head only on the far left of the screen.)

Blondes Have More Fun

During the lightsaber duel between Luke and Darth Vader in the Emperor's throne room aboard the Death Star, there is a scene in which Luke does an Olympic-worthy somersault jump to the floor above. If you look closely at the stunt double's hair, you will notice that it is much more blonde than Mark Hamill's.

Shadow Warriors

During Luke and Vader's climactic battle in the Emperor's throne room, you can see a shadow of the Dark Lord's lightsaber on the battle station floor just after Luke knocks Vader down the stairs and he gets back up on his feet.

Shadow Warriors, Round Two

As Luke and Vader continue to ferociously battle with their lightsabers behind a flight of stairs and then in front of a circular window, the camera cuts to an angle in which the audience looks down upon the duel. The weapons once again cast quite noticeable shadows on the floor of the battle station, especially in the scene just before Luke slices Vader's hand off.

But Can He Pull a Wookiee Out of a Hat

After the Ewoks captured Luke and Company on the moon of Endor, there is a shot of an untied R2-D2, even though at this point in the movie the Ewoks have not yet decided to free the Rebels and help them fight the Imperial forces.

Lando's Insubordination

As the Rebel armada disembarks from their rendezvous at the Sulust star system for their assault on the Death Star battle station, Admiral Ackbar orders, "All craft, prepare to jump into hyperspace on my mark." The camera then cuts to the interior of the Millennium Falcon, where Lando says, "Alright. Stand by." Then he abruptly pulls the lever and makes the jump to hyperspace, although Ackbar has still not given the appropriate command.

Han Suffers from Roving Hands Syndrome

After Leia is wounded during the ground battle on Endor's moon, Han grabs her and pulls her back to safety. Pay close attention to his hand—as he fondles her breast!

Endor National Park

After the Rebels have disembarked from the stolen Imperial shuttle, Tydirium, the audience can see a redwood fence in the background, of the variety commonly found in U.S. national parks.

Color Scheme

During some scenes, Admiral Piett's blue uniform rank insignia changes color to black, due to the "blue screening" special effect in which everything that is one shade of blue is replaced in post-production with another background.

Two Hans Are Better Than One

As the Imperial bunker on Endor is about to explode from the detonation devices set by the Rebel strike force, Han yells, "Move! Move!" As he distances himself from the building, the second time he calls out "Move!" you can see his reflection behind him, running in the opposite direction. The effect was caused by a sheet of Plexiglas positioned between Harrison Ford and the explosion to protect the actors in case of an accident.

AUTHORS' AFTERWORD:

Back to the Future

"Star Wars was designed as a film for young people. It was done with all the energy, intelligence and thought I could muster."

—George Lucas in a 1981 interview with Starlog magazine

"I went in thinking it would be cool, but after the first scene I was screaming. It was the single most important movie in my life."

—Dean Devlin, producer of Independence Day, who waited in line for four hours to see Star Wars in 1977

A long time ago . . . Well, actually it was twenty years ago at the time of this writing, when George Lucas brought his classic swashbuckling space opera Star Wars to movie theaters worldwide. A whole new special-effects factory (Industrial Light & Magic) was constructed to take advantage of computer technology to implement some of the most elaborate miniature and optical effects ever produced for motion pictures. But it was the strength of a simple but powerful story and the heroics of a handful of colorful characters that actually captured our imaginations and transported us to an unknown galaxy thousands of light years from earth.

Looking back, it is hard to believe that in 1977 the eventual critical and commercial bomb Exorcist II: The Heretic was expected to be the heavyweight box-office champ of the summer. Even Twentieth Century Fox was telling movie theaters that if they wanted to show Sidney Sheldon's The Other Side of Midnight, they would have to book their science-fiction gamble, Star Wars.

The film was so ground-breaking and innovative, though, that it changed movie making forever. George Lucas' modern masterpiece was a phenomenon that opened up a new era in special effects by being the first movie to forge a union of cinema and the new video and computer technologies for creating screen images. The last advances in visual technology of that enormity had occurred decades earlier with Willis O'Brien's stop-motion effects for the original King Kong. There were visually imaginative films in the transpiring years, notably Jason and the Argonauts, Stanley Kubrick's 2001: A Space Odyssey and Logan's Run, but they relied mostly on comprehensive use of models and other pre-existing technologies. But with Star Wars, Lucas and his band of gifted young special-effects wizards created movie magic that had never before been seen on the big screen.

Critics, though, shrugged Star Wars off as a "kiddie" movie, a live-action version of a Saturday morning cartoon. They saw the story of a young farm boy who gets caught up in the middle of a galactic civil war as overly simplistic, with no characterization, merely eye candy—an updated version of the old Flash Gordon serials. No doubt, those elements certainly exist in Star Wars, but the film was the boldest attempt in the modern history of movies to present a true fantasy, a latter-day Wizard of Oz in which its characters were on a fateful journey of self-discovery. The audience reaction was nothing short of astounding. Newspapers and television stations across the country reported long lines outside of theaters and snarled traffic jams for the duration of the summer.

After twenty years, how does Star Wars hold up to the elements, and to the cinematic blockbusters that it spawned? Oh, sure, the hairstyles are definitely the '70s, some of the special effects have deteriorated over two decades and the final assault on the Death Star is allowed to go on way too long, but if you get caught up in the action and the endearing, but quietly sophisticated story of the movie's humans and aliens, then you will come to realize that Star Wars is truly a classically timeless film for the young and the young at heart.

Although entertaining films in their own right, the other two installments in the trilogy did not live up to the standards established by the first movie. Because Lucas obviously placed so much of his creativity into Star Wars, for which a whole universe was created, The Empire Strikes Back and Return of the Jedi simply built upon and amplified that galaxy far, far away. In other words, they took Dad's classic car (which he built from scratch) for a short spin around the block.

In the now legendary Mos Eisley cantina scene, the first film exhibited bizarre-looking, hard-drinking aliens with uncomfortably human characteristics. But in Return of the Jedi we got a singing elephant with lips on the end of her nose; Salacious Crumb, an obvious escapee from The Muppet Show; slow-witted pig guards; a dancing fat woman; and the worst of the lot, cute and cuddly, teddy bear-like Ewoks. Reportedly, Lucas decided at one point that the third installment would take place in large part on the Wookiee homeworld. But the tall, furry creatures would not have made millions in lovable merchandise and toys, so Lucas reversed the syllables in Wookiee and came up with Ewok. We didn't want any Ewok toys, though. We wanted a stuffed Rancor.

Darth Vader, who was the epitome of evil in the first installment of the trilogy, weakened as a character as the movies progressed. In Star Wars, the Dark Lord was presented as being very powerful in the dark side of the Force, almost undefeatable. Then in The Empire Strikes Back, the audience was introduced to the Galactic Emperor, and suddenly Vader was transformed into a submissive disciple of his dark side "master." Finally, in the trilogy's third installment, Return of the Jedi, Vader was nothing more than a lapdog to the Emperor, much the same as Salacious Crumb was to his bloated lord and master, Jabba the Hutt. It was disheartening to witness the loss of character integrity of perhaps the greatest villain to have ever graced movie screens.

Twentieth Century Fox, in a tour de "Force" of marketing savvy, re-released the original trilogy as a boxed set of videocassettes in late 1995 and early 1996, to a whole new global generation (more than nine million units were sold during the first week of the video trilogy's release). And then Lucas took his venerable, revitalized and digitally enhanced classics back to movie theaters in 1997 to commemorate the twentieth anniversary of the first film and to expose the trilogy to the next generation, while reminding the rest of us baby boomers just how special the movie series still is, especially with its $10 million technological face-lift.

With interest in the first trilogy at its highest level since the films were originally released in movie theaters, most conversations among fans revolve around opinions about why the first films were so culturally significant and whether it will be possible for the next trilogy, planned for 1999, to live up to the three original classics.

Lucas has promised that the next three movies will be much more character-driven, more complex in dealing with treachery, and will center largely on Anakin Skywalker before he became Darth Vader. Let's accept the fact that these new movies are Star Wars prequels, but let's also view them as independent films in and of themselves rather than having a predetermined attitude of "They can't possibly be as good as the first trilogy."

One thing is certain, though: we'll be there again, standing in line for four hours before the first show.

JEDI KNIGHTHOOD SCORING LEGEND

After you have totaled the points from each section to calculate your overall score, determine your level of training success and status as a Jedi Knight as follows:

2275–1926	Jedi Master
1925–1515	Defender of the Galaxy (Full-Fledged Jedi Knight)
1514–1179	Guardian of Justice and Freedom (Jedi Knight-Errant)
1178–850	Just a Crazy Old Wizard
849–534	Cadet Candidate for Starfleet Academy
533–201	Sarlacc Snack

Jedi Master

Congratulations! You are one of the few Jedi Knights powerful enough in the ways of the Force to have evolved into a Jedi Master, a status achieved only by our former mentor and teacher, the legendary Yoda. You now have moved beyond the need for weapons such as lightsabers, preferring instead to depend solely on the Force to give you the strength you desire. You are now one with your world, with the entire galaxy, bound to it through the ever-present and positive energy of the Force.

Defender of the Galaxy [Full-Fledged Jedi Knight]

You have demonstrated your strength in the Force and thus have been awarded the rank of Jedi Knight, Defender of the Galaxy, and along with it all the rights, dignity and respected position the title holds. Although you now have a reputation for your supernatural skills with a lightsaber, your real power comes from your ability to tap into and manipulate the Force. Use it only for the protection and defense of the New Republic and never, never allow yourself to be seduced by the dark side.

Guardian of Justice and Freedom [Jedi Knight-Errant]

You have successfully learned passivity over aggressiveness, understanding over assumption, and knowledge rather than force. Yet you cannot complete your training as a Jedi Knight because you lack patience and control. This is a dangerous time for you, when you will be tempted by the anger, fear, and aggression of the dark side of the Force. Mind what you have learned and do not choose the quick and easy path.

Just a Crazy Old Wizard

As a Force-sensitive being you have mastered most of the Jedi skills and techniques, except the ability to alter and change the distribution and nature of the Force to create illusions, move objects, and change the perceptions of others. Like any energy field, the Force can be manipulated, and knowledge of these manipulation techniques give the Jedi Knight his power. Until you learn to not be so reckless with your abilities, you will remain in training in the deserts of Tatooine, where the locals consider you “just a crazy old wizard.”

Always with you it cannot be done. As Jedi Master Yoda would say, “Try not. Do. Or do not. There is no try.” To be a Jedi you must have the deepest commitment, the most serious mind, either of which you are sorely lacking. You also yearn for adventure and excitement, but a Jedi Knight craves not these things. Your transfer credits have been forwarded to the registrar at Starfleet Academy where, hopefully, you can finish what you began. Face it, you’re a washout.

Sarlacc Snack

Your true identity has been compromised! Bothan spies have provided us with detailed information that you are in reality a deep-cover intelligence agent for the Imperial Security Bureau (ISB). Because you failed in your covert mission to successfully infiltrate the New Republic through the Jedi Knights, we have learned through reliable sources that ISB officers intend to feed you to the terrible Sarlacc creature that lives in the desert wastes of Tatooine’s Dune Sea, where you will die a slow, pain-filled death.

The Jedi Code:

“There is no emotion; there is peace.
There is no ignorance; there is knowledge.
There is no passion; there is serenity.
There is no death; there is the Force.”

May the Force be with you . . . always!

About the Authors

James Hatfield is the former entertainment editor for The Texas Women's News and a frequent contributor to other Lone Star State regional publications. Having returned to his native Arkansas from Dallas in 1994, where he was for many years the vice-president of a large real estate management company, he now lives in a small town at the foothills of the Ozarks with his wife Nancy and their two previously homeless girls—Angel (“the Heinz 57 mutt”) and Muffin (“the very independent Siamese feline”). James’ other interests include hunting for antiques and fishing on Beaver Lake for “that trophy Bass.”

George Burt, Ph.D. (affectionately known as “Doc”) is a computer consultant to major businesses and industries in Texas, specializing in software application development. Doc met his co-author while working on a major computer project for one of America’s largest retail companies. They have been writing partners ever since. Doc makes his home in Dallas, Texas, where he spends his leisure time reading law books (he’s also a paralegal) or indulging in his real passion—cheering for the Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys!
